[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 18, 1868.

Delegates and visitors continue to pour in from all sections of the country, and the hotels are already taxed to their fullest capacities. The Pennsylvania delegation is very strong and each train arriving adds materially to the number.

THE RESULT.

The dissatisfaction which grew out of the passage of the coercive resolution at the Philadelphia Convention, instructing the delegates throughout the State to support Mr. Curtin for the Vice Presidential nomination, and providing for the appointment of new delegates in place of those who would not accept the power of the Convention so to instruct, has, as was predicted in the GAZETTE at the time, ripened into bitterness, and the friends of Curtin discover wherein they made a mistake. There are in some instances two sets of delegates representing different shades of opinion regarding the prominent candidates, who will claim seats in the Convention. In order to facilitate matters and to arrive at some proper understanding whereby the harmony of the Pennsylvania delegation may be preserved and the frittering away of its strength in the Convention avoided, a meeting of the various delegates and contestants was held this morning. Hon Galusha A. Grow was selected as Chairman pro tem. There were but few members present, and it was not deemed advisable to go on with the business, so the meeting adjourned to reassemble to-morrow morning at ten o'clock. It is a difficult matter to determine what line of policy will be pursued by the delegates, but it is conjectured that Mr. Curtin will at least receive a full complimentary State vote on the first ballot, after which his friends and those opposed to him will accept another candidate.

NEW YORK DELEGATION.

The New York delegation arrived here to-day. Many of their number are in favor of Fenton, a few for Colfax and Wilson, but the feeling of sympathy for Ben Wade, which has sprung up since the betrayal of the party by Ross, Trumbull, Fessenden and others, will bring many friends to his side from this delegation as well as others.

Mr. Colfax has developed much strength, and viewing the canvass without prejudice, it seems as if he had the inside track of the others. The Northwestern and many New England delegates seem favorable to him, and the chances for his nomination are bright and rosy, his friends feeling sanguine of success.

HOW WADE IS INJURED.

The bitterness with which Wade has been followed by some Republicans of Ohio has interfered much with his chances, as his friends are met with the assertion that "he cannot carry Ohio, and we can't afford to lose so important a State." Of course the popularity question of Wade in his State is only a speculation started by his personal enemies to defeat him in the Convention.

HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

The name of Hannibal Hamlin has been put forward and his claims earnestly canvassed. There are many who believe that a great wrong was done this gentleman when he was thrown off the ticket for re-election with Lincoln, and the name of Andrew Johnson substituted. Had the party not overlooked his claims in its eagerness to reward the "Southern loyalist," the traitor Johnson, the country would have been much better off to-day financially, politically and otherwise. It is hard to estimate what strength Mr. Hamlin will be able to muster, but it will, judging from the frequency his name is uttered, prove very respectable.

Mr. Grow's name will not be presented, although he would develope much strength.

POLITICAL RUMORS.

The streets are rife with exciting rumors, which can be traced to the Conservatives. These are put forward to deter the Convention from making a Radical platform, but produce no effect whatever. The delegates are fully impressed with the magnitude and importance of the occasion. They will not haul down a single principle in the face of the enemy, but will strictly adhere to that which is right and just, and will put forth a broad and liberal platform upon which every honest and loyal citizen of the land can conscientiously stand. The betrayal in the Senate has cemented the ranks and instead of producing any damage, has added largely to the chances for the triumph of Grant and whoever may be placed on the ticket with him. Although all feel at heart the depth and significance of the insult offered the party by its betrayers, still none of the delegates are cast down, but to the contrary are hopeful and buoyant.

A POLITICAL PHENOMENON.

The unanimity of feeling towards Grant is a most remarkable political phenomenon. Not a delegate is present who has a word to utter against the hero of the rebellion, but all unite in the enthusiasm awakened by the mere mention of his name. There will not be a solitary vote cast against him for the presidential nomination. No other man in the United States would or could receive such a compliment, and these delegates represent the masses who watched with prayerful hope the progress of the war against treason from its inception to the day of final and overwhelming victory. That Grant should receive such an honor gushing from the hearts of a grateful people is a golden tribute to his private worth as a citizen, and public value as a chieftain and statesman. Under his leadership victory must follow

ENTHUSIASM RISING.

The enthusiasm is rising in the city, and, between the assemblage of the National Republican Convention and the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, the city of Chicago will experience a season of activity never before enjoyed.

VISITORS.

It is estimated that there will be in attendance at the Convention not less than one thousand representatives of the press of the country. Ample provisions have been made for their accommodation during the sitting of the Convention. It will be a very difficult matter for visitors to obtain admittance while the Convention is in session, as but a trifling number of outsiders can be admitted, owing to the incapacity of the hall.

[By Associated Press.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The city is rapidly filling up with delegates and others to attend the Soldiers' and Sailors' and National Conventions. Every train that arrives brings large accessions. The former will meet at noon to-morrow in Turners' Hall. Delegates will be present from nearly every State, and it is thought that fully three thousand late members of the army and navy will be in attendance. There is considerable discussion among them on the subject of resolutions favoring impeachment, with a disposition on the part of some to censure the Republican Senators who voted for acquittal. This and a resolution recommending Grant for President will be the principal business of the Convention, which will adjourn to-morrow evening until Friday, when another meeting will be held to ratify the nominations of the National Convention. Gen. Sickles will probably be chosen Chairman.

The Executive Committee took charge of the Opera House to-day. Ample arrangements have been made for the accommodation of delegates, alternates and representatives of the press. Beyond these comparatively few persons can be admitted. Carl Schurz is talked of as temporary chairman. For permanent chairman there are mentioned General Van Zandt, of Rhode Island, Governor Hawley, of Connecticut, Governor Lane, of Indiana, Judge Tremaine and General Sickles, of New York.

Much pressure is brought to influence the Convention in the matter of a resolution denouncing the Republican Senators who voted against impeachment. At a meeting of the Illinois delegation, this afternoon, speeches were made by Representatives Logan and Judd. Both of them were very bitter, the former declaring his purpose to introduce a resolution censuring those Republicans who voted for acquittal.

Washington Topics and Gossip.

Specials from Washington state the excitement of Saturday has lapsed into perfect quiet. It is generally understood that the Senators from several of the Southern States will be admitted before the Impeachment Court adjourns, and that the President may yet be removed. It is known, also, that the action of the Chicago Convention will influence one or two of the Radical Senators to vote guilty, who voted the other way on Saturday.

Mr. Johnson said yesterday that he did not consider himself out of the woods yet. He thinks the vote on Saturday is a triumph of the law and Constitution, but does not exult over it personally or politically. He evinces a desire to make up with Congress, for a time at least, and is trying to get Senators to think better of him. Mr. Chase keeps quiet and does not express any opinion about the matter. Mr. Seward thinks the trial practically at an end. Mr. Stanton will not resign until all the articles are voted upon, as he still has hopes of conviction.

Gen. Grant believes that the Republicans will be benefitted by the result, and will go to work in good earnest to gain the victory next fall.

The report that Mr. Chase is getting up a new third party is denied by his friends.

Manager Butler, with one or two of his colleagues, has been at work upon the investigation into the influences which have been brought to bear upon the impeachment result, and was very confident that he would be able to make some startling revelations, appearing to have at last got hold of something tangible. The Managers held a meeting Monday morning for the purpose of continuing the prosecution of the inquiry. The investigation, it appears, is not connected with the Republicans who first declared themselves against conviction, but those who did not declare themselves until up to the last moment.

The New York Times' special says: Chief Justice Chase has played himself into the hands of the Democrats, who are concocting measures to run him for the Presidential candidate against Grant.

The New York Tribune says: Chief Justice Chase called at the White House on Saturday afternoon.

The New York World's Washington special gives the following list of the new members of the Cabinet decided upon by Johnson, in case he is acquitted on all the articles: Secretary of State, Wm. M. Evarts; Secretary of the Treasury, Groesbeck; Secretary of War, Ex-Governor Cox; Secretary of the Interior, Capron, of Illinois; Attorney-General, Stanbery. No one is mentioned as Postmaster General. The same dispatch states that Forney has been sent for to return to Washington, at the instigation of Cameron, to undergo an examination.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular of instructions, establishing regulations for the issuing and paying of duplicate bounty checks. The owner of a soldier's bounty check which may be lost must at once satisfy the Assistant Treasurer upon whom it is drawn to stop payment, send affidavits to the paymaster General or the paymaster who issued the check, setting forth the circumstances of the loss and that it was not endorsed in blank or to bearer. He must also file a bond, a form of which is furnished to the paymaster who issues the checks.

Although many Senators and members of Congress have left for the purpose of attending the Chicago Convention, it is believed there will be a quorum present in both Houses during the week.

Extensive preparations are being made for a grand Masonic celebration on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple on the 20th inst

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Senate Proceedings—Personal Explanation Concerning Senator Willey—Adjournment to the 25th Not Agreed Upon—Business in the House—Missouri Representatives Procure a Committee of Investigation—Impeachment Corruption, &c., &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 18, 1868.

SENATE.

The Chair presented a corrected copy of the Constitution adopted by the Virginia Convention.

Indefinite leave of absence, at the instance of Senator Edmunds, was given Senator Grimes, on account of illness.

The act making appropriations for the supply of deficiencies in the appropriation for the execution of the Reconstruction laws in the Third District, for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1868, was passed.

Senator DRAKE moved, as a privileged question, to reconsider the vote by which the Senate refused to concur in the resolution for an adjournment until the 25th.

After discussion the House was requested to return it to the Senate.

Senator HARLAN rose to a personal explanation. An extract was read from the Washington correspondence of the Baltimore Sun, giving the substance of a dispatch from Mr. Harlan to Bishop Simpson, saying, "He (Bro. Willey) is lost." [Laughter.] Also a reply from Bishop Simpson, saying, "Brother Willey is a Christian, and cannot falter with his soul. Pray with Bro. Willey." In justice to that Senator and himself, Mr. Harlan said there was not a word of truth in it. He had had no correspondence with Bishop Simpson since the impeachment commenced.

The concurrent resolution having been returned by the House, Senator TRUMBULL favored postponing it, and called up the bill for the admission of Arkansas.

Senator DIXON thought it inadvisable to afford an opportunity for raising the question of the Arkansas Senators' right to vote on the impeachment.

Senator FESSENDEN said it was not conceivable that Senators would be so lost to shame as to permit those gentlemen to vote on the impeachment, in case they were now admitted, and advocated the taking up of the bill. If that were not done, he thought other business should be done, and was, in any event, opposed to adjournment.

The Senate finally refused to take up the Arkansas bill—sixteen to twenty-four—and agreed to adjourn from this evening until the 25th inst., by twenty-three to nineteen.

Senator BUCKALEW rose to a privileged question, and spoke at considerable length, bitterly commenting on the proceedings of the House in reference to the Senate, saying the House had recently undertaken not only to protect the interest committed to them, the dignity and honor of them over the House, but also interests which pertain to the Senate. If the House had any information affecting the character of Senators, or the integrity of the proceedings in which the Senate has been engaged, it is their business to communicate the information to the Senate, and he took it for granted if such information had been conveyed to the Senate, the Senate yet had enough of dignity to meet and discharge all the duties and obligations upon it by the Constitution. The only supposition which can be reasonably made relative to the purpose for which the record of the proceedings of the Senate, asked for by the House, was wanted, was that it was for the purpose of investigation of the action of the Senate and the influences by which this Senate has been affected. We are competent to vindicate ourselves. We are competent to preserve pure and unsullied the streams of public justice as far as we are concerned, and for one I am disposed to uphold the dignity and rights of the Senate.

Senator SUMNER defended the House, and said the purpose for asking for these records, supposed by the Senator, existed only in his imagination.

During the debate Mr. SUMNER read an article from the New York World, proposing to buy the votes of Senators on impeachment who had but a short time to serve.

Senator DOOLITTLE said that in view of its language, the request of the House could not be regarded as a mere question of courtesy.

The debate was continued at great length, participated in by Senators Doolittle, Sumner, Harlan, Fessenden, Dixon, Davis, and others.

Senator SPRAGUE moved to adjourn. Disagreed to.

Senator SUMNER moved that when the Senate adjourn it be till Thursday. Agreed to.

Senator DOOLITTLE offered a resolution, as a substitute for the one pending, that the House of Representatives be requested to furnish to the Senate any further information which has come to the House, or Managers, relative to the alleged improper or corrupt means used to influence the determination of the Senate, sitting on the impeachment trial, in order that the Senate may take proper action thereon.

After further debate the Chair decided that Senator Doolttle's resolution was not germaine to that under discussion.

Senator DOOLITTLE then modified his resolution, that the Senate respectfully declines to furnish the information, and ask the House to furnish such facts as they may have touching alleged improper influences, &c.

This was agreed to.

The question then was taken on the pending resolution to furnish the House with a record of the proceedings of the two last days of the impeachment trial. No quorum—yeas 19, nays 6.

Senator CONNESS moved that the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to bring in the absentees.

Senator BUCKALEW thought it would be more respectful to say requested.

The Sergeant-at-Arms then went in quest of the absentees.

Senator YATES thought they would have to wait all night to get a quorum, and therefore would move the Senate adjourn. Two members voted in the affirmative and ten in the negative.

Senator COLE was of the opinion it would be impossible to get a quorum this evening.

Senator SUMNER thought there was no further use in sitting here, and at six o'clock the Senate adjourned till Thursday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A number of bills were presented for reference.

Construing the act for the collection of abandoned property and prevention of frauds in the insurrectionary districts.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, making foreigners who have been residing in the country fourteen years eligible to the Presideney.

For the construction of a government telegraph, under the direction of the Post-office Department, between Washington and New York, and appropriating $75,000 therefor.

To amend acts granting lands to Wisconsin and Iowa in aid of railroads.

Also, granting lands in aid of a Railroad from the Mississippi River to Yankton, on the Missouri River.

To amend the Constitution of the United States by declaring vacant the offices of all Judges of the Supreme, Circuit and District Courts of the United States who have held office eight years, the successors to the first named to be elected by a joint convention of Congress, who shall prescribe the mode of election or appointing Judges of inferior Courts.

To amend the homestead laws, by providing that parties who procure the cultivation of abandoned homestead entries shall have the first right to enter the land.

Joint resolutions of the Missouri Legislature in favor of a grant of lands for the improvement of the Osage river.

A memorial of the Iowa Legislature that postmasters be made agents for the distribution of revenue stamps.

Mr. EGGLESTON offered a resolution providing for a Select Committee to investigate the circumstances connected with the recent letter of the Missouri Representatives to Senator Henderson, and whether it was written to corrupt or improperly influence his decision.

Mr. EGGLESTON said he introduced the resolution at the request of the Missouri members and desired not to be appointed on the Committee.

Mr. PAINE moved to table the resolution—rejected, 15 against 83.

The resolution was then adopted and the Speaker appointed Messrs. Scofield, Lawrence, (Ohio,) Eldridge, Coburn and Ferris the Committee.

Mr. BOYER introduced the following:

WHEREAS, The Managers of Impeachment have been by resolution of the House converted into a Committee to investigate whether improper or corrupt influences have been used to affect the determination of Senators on the articles, etc., therefore

Resolved, That the Speaker be instructed to appoint two additional members of said Committee of Investigation from those members of the House who voted against impeachment.

The House, by a vote of twenty-eight to sixty-eight, refused to consider the resolution.

Mr. ASHLEY, of Ohio, offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish information as to the condition of the Custom House and Postoffice at Toledo, O.

Mr. BANKS, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a bill making an appropriation of $7,200,000 to carry out the treaty for the purchase of Alaska.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Wisconsin, presented a minority report, signed by himself and Mr. Morgan, declaring the country alluded to of no value to the United States, and that it is inexpedient to appropriate any money for its purchase.

The bill and reports were ordered to be printed, Mr. BANKS giving notice he would not ask action before the second week in June.

Mr. INGERSOLL made a brief personal explanation relative to certain paragraphs in the Washington correspondence of the New York Tribune and Herald, to the effect that he (Mr. Ingersoll) has followed Senators Trumbull and Fowler on the impeachment question. He said a proposition was made in the Illinois delegation to send a letter to Senator Trumbull, with a view to influence his vote for conviction, or to his withholding it if he could not vote for conviction. He (Mr. Ingersoll) and three others objected, viewing such action improper. He voted for impeachment, and had never seen any reason to change his views. He did not know what Senator Trumbull's views were, for he never had a conversation with him. He had not adopted Senator Trumbull's opinions, nor those of any other Senator, and so far as outside pressure was concerned, he knew nothing about it. There was absolutely nothing in the stories.

Mr. JONES, of Kentucky, offered a preamble that the House having, in bad judgment and in hot haste, passed a resolution and adopted articles of impeachment against Andrew Johnson, and it having been abundantly proven there was no cause or plausible pretext therefore

Resolved, That the Managers be instructed forthwith to withdraw said suit.

The SPEAKER ruled the question not privileged, as the resolution reflects upon the House.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution requesting the Senate to send to the House an official copy of the last two days proceedings of the Court of Impeachment.

An excited debate sprung up, in the course of which Mr. STEVENS said he had no accusation to make against Senators, but that there had been somewhere a deep damnation no one could doubt, and he wanted an opportunity to see who was guilty and who was not.

Mr. ROSS—I ask the gentleman whether Senators would have been justified in perjuring themselves in voting for the conviction of the President?

Mr. STEVENS—Well, sir, I don't think it would hurt them much.

Mr. WOODWARD, alluding to the remarks of Mr. Stevens, said the desire seemed to be to influence the Senate how to vote, and he characterized the effort as disgraceful and indecent.

Mr. SCHENCK said the word "indecent" came with a bad grace from a gentleman who had said Congress was of so fragmentary a nature that it could not properly prefer articles of impeachment, and the Senate was not a proper body to try them. He referred to the matter, because at the time Mr. Woodward made that remark about Congress, he had prepared a resolution for his expulsion, and was only prevented from offering it because he understood some one else proposed to do so.

Mr. WOODWARD asked leave to reply. It was refused and the resolution was adopted.

The House went into a Committee of the Whole on the Indian appropriation bill.

Mr. MAYNARD insisted on reading the bill at length, which the Clerk proceeded to do; but on a motion to dispense with the further reading no quorum voted, and the Committee rose and reported the fact to the House.

On calling the roll 104 members answered, and further proceedings under the call were dispensed with, and the House again went into Committee and the reading of the bill was resumed and continued about half an hour.

Finally the Committee rose, and Mr. LOUGHRIDGE introduced a preamble and joint resolution on the subject of the treaty of purchase with Russia, which was read and referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. HIGBY introduced a bill to aid the San Francisco and Humboldt Company to construct a railroad from San Francisco to towns on the Humboldt. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. ELDRIDGE asked to be and was excused from service on the Select Committee appointed to-day in reference to the letter to Senator Henderson, of Missouri, and Mr. Burr was appointed in his place.

A message was received from the Senate at four o'clock, announcing that the Senate had agreed to the concurrent resolution for a recess, to take effect from to-day.

The SPEAKER stated that the question would be on agreeing to the amendment of the Senate, striking out Saturday and inserting to-day.

Mr. ASHLEY, of Ohio, moved the House adjourn.

The vote on that motion was being taken, when Mr. BUTLER moved across the hall to his seat, saying in a hurried and anxious manner, "withdraw that motion," "don't adjourn."

Mr. ASHLEY thereupon withdrew the motion.

Mr. BUTLER informed the Chair he had a privileged motion to submit.

The SPEAKER stated there was now a privileged motion before the House, on the concurrence in the amendment of the Senate to the resolution for a recess.

Mr. BUTLER said he desired to state the reasons why the House should not concur. He remarked that in the investigation with which the Managers were charged, it might become necessary, and it was now necessary, to have the action of the House in compelling the attendance of witnesses. For that reason it will be quite necessary that the House should be in session to enforce its process. There have been, I have authority to say, acts of recusancy on the part of witnesses that came very near making it necessary to have them brought before the House, and there has been by one or two witnesses such desire manifested to escape from the investigation that I think it necessary to have the House in session. I am now instructed by the Managers to report a resolution for the purpose of bringing before them a witness who has refused to obey the order of the House.

Mr. ROBINSON—I rise to a question of order. I object to all this. [Cries of "order."]

The SPEAKER—The gentleman from New York is himself out of order. The gentleman from Massachusetts has not transgressed the rule. He has limited himself to reasons why the House should not adjourn.

After further debate, Mr. ALLISON moved the concurrent resolution be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to without division, and the Senate was notified of the fact.

Mr. BUTLER then offered a resolution reciting that Charles Woolley, of Cincinnati, who had been subpœnaed to appear before the Managers, had, in contempt of the powers of the House, left the city, and directing that a warrant be issued commanding the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest and bring him before the bar of the House to answer for contempt of its authority.

The reading of the subpœna and its endorsements showed it was signed, not by the Speaker and attested by the Clerk of the House, but was signed by Mr. Bingham, Chairman, and attested by the Clerk of the Managers; also, that it was served on the witness at Willard's hotel, at four o'clock yesterday.

Mr. HOLMAN made the point of order on the fact that the subpœna was not signed by the Speaker.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order, and said that all subpœnas to be legal, so that a person could be brought to the bar of the House under them, had, by the uniform usage of the House, to be signed by the Speaker and attested by the Clerk.

After the matter had been discussed at considerable length, seriously and facetiously, by Messrs. Butler, Robinson, and others, on assurance by Mr. Stewart that the alleged recusant witness, who had only gone to Baltimore, had returned, was now at Willard's hotel, and had no intention of disobeying the subpœna, Mr. Butler withdrew the resolution.

Mr. FARNSWORTH remarked that the objection having thus been removed, he would move to suspend the rules so as to take up again the concurrent resolution for a recess.

The House refused to suspend the rules and then, at a quarter before five o'clock, adjourned.

GREAT BRITAIN.

ENGLISH PRESS ON THE IMPEACHMENT.

LONDON, May 18.—The news of the acquittal of Johnson created a profound sensation. Most of the journals have editorials thereon. The Times says that the article is almost too vague for a substantial charge, but the vote was correct, through fear of any party bias, and shows the case was judged on its merits alone.

The Telegraph says: Dignity and decorum have marked the whole trial, and the non-removal of the President is a most fitting close. Even the most ultra Radicals will be compelled to admit this at no distant day.

The Standard says: The Radical plot is beaten, and the country saved the shame of the deposition of the Chief Magistrate for refusing to obey an illegal act of Congress.

LONDON, May 18.—The Morning Post considers the vote on the eleventh article of impeachment conclusive, and says the result of this trial demonstrates fully the strength of the Radicals, as certainty of success is the only excuse for their taking such a step as impeachment. After all, if right is vindicated, that result is due to accident.

The Daily News takes a widely different ground in its comments, and thinks the vote is not conclusive of the whole case.

PENIAN RESPITED.

A respite of one week has been granted to Barrett, the Clerkenwell conspirator, who is under sentence of death.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 18—In the debate on the treaty with Austria, Count Von Bismarck said, while Prussia is applying herself no pressure waits for the time when the South German States shall seek a union with the confederation of the north. She condemns the exercise of any restraint upon the free action of the sovereign diet.

Impeachment Investigation — Proposed Postal Telegraph Line.

WASHINGTON, May 18, 1868.

WITNESSES SUMMONED.

It is understood that Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, Indiana, Mr. Perry, Fuller, of Kansas, and General Ewing have been summoned as witnesses by the Impeachment Managers.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH LINE.

The bill introduced by Representative Washburne, of Illinois, to-day, for the construction of a Government Telegraph line, under the direction of the Postoffice Department, between New York and Washington, provides that the Postmaster General shall, within thirty days' advertise in two newspapers in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York for proposals for constructing a telegraph line from the Postoffice in Washington to the Postoffice in New York, by way of Philadelphia and Baltimore, and such intermediate stations as he may designate. The Postmaster General shall, at the same time advertise for proposals from the proprietors of any existing line of telegraph for the sale to the United States of the entire line of such telegraph between any of said cities, or for the entire line herein provided for, with franchises, rights and privileges connected therewith. The proposal of the lowest bidder is to be accepted and the work is to be of the best character. Power is given the Postmaster General to establish telegraph stations at as many Postoffices along the line as in his judgment the public interest, with due regard to economy of administration, shall require, and shall employ in the business, as far as practicable, employés of the Postoffice, and also special telegraph clerks when necessary, at customary salaries, and employ a General Superintendent, who shall be a practical telegrapher, at a salary not exceeding $3,500 per annum. No message shall be sent unless stamped with three cent postage stamps. There shall be a uniform rate for the transmission of messages, without regard to distance, of one cent for each word, exclusive of address and signature, but no message shall be sent for a less sum than ten cents, and there shall be charged two cents for the delivery of each and every message; provided, the Government shall be entitled to send and receive all its messages over the line free of charge, and shall have priority in sending them; and provided, that when less rates than are herein provided shall be charged by any other telegraph line between the same points, the Postmaster General may reduce these rates to conform thereto; and provided, further, he may direct that news telegrams for publication by newspapers shall be transmitted at a reduction, not exceeding fifty per cent. on these rates.

State Finances—Board of Finance.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, May 18.—At a meeting today of the State Board of Finance, Mr. Samuel Watson made a proposition to purchase a million dollars of State bonds, to be paid for by the issuance of gold bearing bonds at a rate of interest not exceeding seven per cent., provided the purchase can be made at such price as will certainly reduce the State debt; also to sell similar gold bearing bonds to relieve the present pressure on the Treasury, meet demands on School Fund, pay the debt due the Fourth National Bank, of New York, and interest on State debt due in July, provided said bonds can be negotiated at par at the rate of interest authorized by the law creating the board of finance. An agent is to be appointed to negotiate the sale. The proposition was opposed by Secretary Fletcher and Comptroller Blackburn, President of the Board, and supported by Governor Brownlow by proxy, Mr. Watson and Treasurer Henry, and carried. Fletcher and Blackburn thereupon withdrew from the Board of Finance. The remaining members will meet again on Wednesday in Knoxville. The proposition is regarded with deep interest and is calculated to relieve the State and increase general prosperity. Mr. Watson will probably be the agent to negotiate the bonds.

Experiment with Coal and Iron in Missouri —A New Enterprise.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—A very interesting experiment has just been completed at the Carondelet Iron Furnace, six miles below this city. P. S. Howlett, who owns a coal mine six miles from Springfield, Illinois, brought one hundred tons of his coal here to test its capacity for smelting Missouri ore. The result was he made forty-four tons of iron and had considerable coke left. He made twenty-four tons of iron in twenty-four hours, beating the Big Mundy coal 8 tons in the same time. The tensile strength of the iron is 27,000 pounds stronger than standard cold blast charcoal iron, and 11,000 pounds stronger than hot blast charcoal. The cost of the iron was twenty-five dollars and eighteen cents per ton, and sold readily at forty dollars. This cost can be somewhat reduced. Furnaces are to be immediately built at Howlett's coal mines, to which the Missouri ore will be transported. Very large sums of money will be invested in this enterprise.

Steamboat Explosion—Three Persons Killed—Two Fatally Injured.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 18.—The steam tug Bell Potter, owned by Robt. Reed & Co., of Saline Coal Mine, on the lower Ohio, exploded her boilers on Sunday morning as she was leaving Saline landing with a large load of people. Mrs. Reed, mother of Robt. Reed, Mrs. Laughlin and Geo. Finley, fireman, were instantly killed. Eli Johnson, engineer, and Capt. Comstock were badly burned and scalded. Johnson died in half an hour afterwards. Comstock will probably die. The bodies of the ladies and Mr. Finley were blown high into the air and lost in the river. Johnson and Comstock were also blown into the river, but rescued. Other persons on boat escaped uninjured.

Negrete's forces had been again defeated by Velez near Tulacindo.

The steamer Mexico, from New Orleans had arrived at Vera Cruz.

The vomit is raging at Vera Cruz. Even old inhabitants are dying.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

EPHEMERIS.

—Napoleon and his wife are homeopathists.

—There are forty-four postmistresses in Connecticut.

—A Chinese Prince is studying the art of war in Belgium.

—The Heavens is the title of a new novel by the good old Michelet.

—General Sir Percy Windham, with his military family, are at Niagara.

—Anne Leech, the widow of John Leech, the famous artist, is dead.

—Connubling is a new word for wedding, which has appeared in the Cincinnati Commercial.

—The stair case at Niagara Falls, leading under table rock, fell last week. Nobody was hurt.

—The original of the Old Sexton, in the horrible ballad of that name, has just died in New York.

—Some of the country roads in Western Massachusetts are still blockaded by huge snow drifts.

—Mr. 'Peabody did not give the Pope £200,000, but he did bestow £2,000 on one of the educational institutions in Rome.

—We are getting a few telegrams about Earthquakes in Europe and Asia, now that we are all tired of those in the West Indies.

—Baron von Rothschild, of Vienna, payed $36,000 for Ter burg's "Congress of Munster," at the recent sale of the Donato gallery.

—Wade Hampton (of South Carolina) will address the literary societies of General Lee's College at the coming commencement.

—Some one has gotten off a horrid pun, attributing the longevity of Lord Brougham to the fact of his having been preserved in Cannes.

—Like many other persons, Napoleon objects to being told that he is old. He says that he will show the world soon that he is still young.

—New York thieves have made an important change in their figurative language. To cut a man's throat was formerly "to slit his weazen," now it is to "swippen his geyser."

—Mark Twain is lecturing to crowded houses in California and Nevada. If Mark's lectures be only half as witty and humorous as his writings, no one can wonder at the crowded houses.

—The Clevelan d Leader has left off plauging Senator Wade and now says that the result of impeachment has so awakened Ohio that that State will give 50,000 majority for Grant and Wade.

—The Emperor of Russia has sent five valuable horses as a present to the Sultan. It would be very neat if the Sultan would return the compliment by presenting the Czar with Constantinople.

—The Marquis of Abercorn, at present Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, is to be made a Duke. The Queen of England has during her long reign conferred a dukedom on but one person, and that was Prince Alfred.

—Morley Puncheon, the Methodist preacher who came from England to this country, in order to be able to marry the sister of his dead wife, will lecture to-night in Chicago. He is said to be a man of unusual eloquence.

—The diadem presented to the Princess Margherita, by the City of Florence, was composed entirely of diamonds. It represents a crown of various flowers, prominent among which was the Marguerite or daisy.

—Strauss is actually coming to this country to concertise. He certainly, to be fully appreciated, should bring his band with him. Strauss leading Strauss's band, playing one of Strauss's waltzes, is simply inimitable, unapproachable and almost unimaginable.

—Napoleon presented Pope Pius with a very handsome Easter present. The French fleet which was sent to Civita Vecchia, to carry home the brigade of General Pothier, left their entire armament behind as a present from the Emperor to the Pope, —The unfortunate princess who is about to become the bride of that turbulent young man, the Prince Achille Murât, claims to be a direct descendant of the historical and high-tempered Medea. The royal descendant of the Queen of Sheba cut his throat at Magdala.

—Somebody attempted to assassinate the medium Home the other day. He didn't get any spiritual aid, no unseen hands came and warded off the blow, no friendly spirits tipped up the assssin, but Mr. Home succeeded in receiving the blow on his own fleshy arm, and thus saved his life.

—It is the peculiar evidence of the fallability of our scientific men, that they have never discovered how excessively powerful a thing whisky is. Impeachment has developed the fact that the whisky ring is even stronger than the will of the American people or the honor of some of the American Senators. Stronger than a Chicago wedding ring, even.

—On Tuesday afternoon the boiler of a pile driver in Chicago, burst. The engineer was fatally and the fireman seriously wounded. The boiler was an old worn out one and considered unsafe for some time. A portion of the boiler, eight feet in length, was blown over a schooner—completely cutting in two her main mast—and into a pork packing establishment.

—In the little matter of suicide, Paris leads the world. A new style has been introduced in that city. A man wished to kill himself, but lacking the required amount of nerve, he hired another man to blow out his brains for a few francs. The deed was done, and now the man who was hired is up before the courts where the big wigs are puzzled as to whether he is liable to be punished for the murder or not.

—A man in Paris, seeing a fellow creature drowning, threw off his clothes, sprang into the water, swam out and succeeded in rescuing the drowning man. On returning he discovered that some one had stolen his watch. A few days afterwards he received a handsome gold watch and chain from the Emperor, who had heard of his case, and took this means of showing his hearty appreciation of his bravery.

—The Philadelphia Bulletin is employing its theatrical critic on La Belle Helene. This critic objects to that opera, and compares it to a minstrel show. He is also severe on the renowned Tostee of whom he says. "The text is a burlesque upon the story of the flight of Helen with Paris, in consequence of the award of Venus, giving him the most beautiful woman in the world. M'lle Tostee in this latter character constituted the most consumate parody in the whole entertainment." And again "M'lle Tostee succeeds in this country simply because she does coarse things in a rakish way, to which, happily, we are not accustomed. It is not her talent that wins popularity for her; it is the boldness with which she transplants the tricks of the Concert Saloon to the stage of the Academies." This is, then, what we have to expect if "the divine Tostee" should she ever wander out this way.

—The thing has come out at last, as every one knew it would. The King of Bavaria is no fool, and would not be the man to break off an eligible engagement merely because his fiancee did not like Wagner's music. There must have been some sufficient cause for it, and that cause has at last leaked out. The Princess Sophia loved—not wisely but a shade too well—a handsome young painter in Munich. The Baron Trenck and Princess of Prussia affaire was repeated, with the single exception that there was no King Frederick to interfere before things had gone too far. King Ludwig, on discovering that he had a favored rival, immediately withdrew from his engagement to the fair Arch Duchess, and at the same time had sufficient gallantry to attempt to lay the blame on his own eccentricity. In all Europe there is no more highly educated, brilliant or good natured monarch than Ludwig II. of Bavaria.

Personal History of General Grant.

The following extracts are from Richardson's "Life of General Grant:"

Some still see in him only the darling of fortune—energetic mediocrity, which has blundered into success. I think such are misled by two of his peculiar qualities:

I. His unimaginativeness. When he has nothing to say he says nothing. In private he fills no interstices of conversation by remarks upon the weather, or inquiries after the babies of his visitor. In public he can make no speeches simply of form or compliment; and since the world cared to hear his opinions on affairs, his official position has never allowed him to speak freely. But in public or private, when he has anything to utter by tongue or pen, he says it with extreme rapidity and clearness, in terse, marrowy, idiomatic English. Even then he clothes his thoughts in no flowers of rhetoric, but presents them in the plainest, homeliest words. Napoleon's memorable sayings are all of this order: "From these summits forty centuries look down upon you." "We will carry our victorious eagles beyond the pillars of Hercules." Grant's are the exact antipodes: "I have no terms but unconditional surrender." "I propose to move immediately upon your works." "I shall fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." "I found the army like a baulky horse." Said the dramatic Corsican after Austerlitz: "Soldiers, I am satisfied with you. You have decorated your eagles with immortal glory." Said the matter-of-fact American to his shouting men after Port Gibson: "Soldiers, I thank you. That is all I can say. You have done a good day's work to-day, but you must do a better one to-morrow." No shining rhetoric, no poetic gushes; only the simple unadorned fact.

II. He is the most undramatic of men. Scott was nicknamed by his enemies "Fuss and feathers." Grant has less fuss and fewer feathers than any other public man of his day. He believes with the Chinese proverb, that "That is which is." He accepts things just as he finds them, not troubling himself about the "Eternal Verities," but doing promptly, thoroughly, and subordinately the duty which lies right before him, however prosaic and disagreeable. He acts his convictions instead of talking them.

* * * He is utterly genuine and guileless. He still preserves in his high estate the sweetness and simplicity of his country boyhood. Altogether free from cant, his lips obeying the teachings of his mother, have uttered no oath, been soiled by no coarseness. During the terrors of Belmont, when an aid, with pallid cheeks, cried, "Why, General, we are surrounded!" there was no perceptible change in his pleasant face or calm voice as he answered, "Then we will cut our way out." Three years later, as he read Lee's dispatch proposing the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia, he was equally unmoved; no elation shone on his face, or sounded in the ordinary tone in which he asked. "Well, General Rawlins, how do you think that will do!" "Tried by both extremes of fortune, and never disturbed by either," he remains as simple and unaffected to-day as in his years of poverty and obscurity.

Animals Enclosed in Solid Stone.

There have been many well authenticated instances where, on splitting open stones, living animals have been found enclosed in cavities, with apparently no sufficient outlet. The cases on record refer principally to toads, but in one recently brought before the consideration of the Zoological Society of Vienna, a salamander, or water lizard, was the prisoner. Of the actual facts in this instance, there was no question; but Prof. Frauenfeld, a well known naturalist of that city, showed that there was a small fissure leading to the outside of the stone, though much too small to admit of egress of the animal. He suggested, therefore, that the lizard had entered when very young, and in its growth had soon become too large to escape, and was kept, perhaps a not unwilling captive, since in the minute insects continually traversing every cranny accessible to them, it found ample means of support, the sandstone in which it occurred maintaining the proper degree of moisture. The same explanation attaches to the case of toads, which when first attaining their perfect shape are in many cases smaller than a common fly, and can easily enter a minute cavity.

The Democratic Platform.

Some of the leading New York Democrats are in Washington with what they are giving out as the Democratic platform to be presented at their National Convention on the 4th of July. According to their story, the planks are these: The first is a declaration against human slavery; the second, a declaration that the Confederate debt is void; third, that the National debt is to be paid exactly as prescribed by law; fourth, for qualified manhood suffrage, to be controlled by the States. Upon this basis they say they are sure a great party can be built up, that shall not only gather nearly all the Democratic strength to itself but also secure large conservative Republican support. They also say that they are looking for the most available candidates to run on such a platform.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, May 18, 1868.

The general markets were exceedingly quiet to-day, which was owing partially at least to the inclement condition of the weather. With the exception of the usual every day transactions, there was nothing done, and there are no changes in values worthy of special notice.

APPLES—Green apples are scarce and firm but unchanged; regular sales at $6 to $7 per barrel, as to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—May be quoted at 80c to $1 per gallon, according to quality.

POTATOES—In good demand and prime Peach Blows are selling readily at $1,55 per bushel.

DRIED FRUIT—There is an improved demand for Apples, and we can report sales to the trade at 7c, and in small lots at 7½c. Peaches firm with sales at 12 to 14c, for fair to choice halves.

EGGS—Were in better demand to-day, and the market may be quoted steady at 20c.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and prices, compared with a week since, are a shade lower; we now quote at 14½c for Shoulders; Sides at 16½c for Ribbed, and 18½ for Clear; Hams at 19½c for Plain Sugar Cured and 20½ to 21c for Canvassed do. Lard, 19½c. Mess Pork, $29. Dried Beef, 22c for Plain, and 23½c for Canvassed.

BUTTER—Is in better supply, and the market is a little weak with a drooping tendency. We now quote prime Roll at 33 to 35c.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote No. 2 at $1,25, and No. 1 at $1,50.

HAY—Baled Hay is coming in very freely by river, and the market is dull but unchanged at $26 to $23. Wagon Hay may be quoted at $23 to $26.

MILL FEED—Is quiet and unchanged: last sales reported were at $1,65 to $1,70 for Bran, and $2,15 to $2,20 for Middlings.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is scarce and in demand, with sales of prime Red at $2,70. Oats quiet and unchanged at 80c, on wharf and track, and 83 to 85c, in store. Rye is still quoted at $1,95 to $2. Corn is very dull, under the influence of increased arivals, and prices are drooping; we now quote white and mixed at $1, and Yellow $1,05—for round lots. No movement in Barley.

HOMINY—Dull but unchanged; sales at $6 to $6,25 per bbl.

SALT—Sales of Allegheny river brands $1,75 to $1,80 in round lots, and $2 for small lots in store.

FLOUR—There is no new charactertisics in Flour market worthy of special notice—the demand is only moderate, and prices are unchanged; sales at $11,00 to $11.75 for Spring Wheat; $12,50 to $13,00 for Winter Wheat, and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $10 to $10,25.

New York Produce Market.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Cotton quiet and rather heavy; sales 2,000 bales at 32c for middling uplands; some sales reported as low as 31½c. RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers continue to recede slowly, with nine and a half feet in the Monongahela, and ten and a half in the Allegheny. As it still continues to rain, we should not be surprised to see another rise, and that, too, within the next twenty-four hours. It rained nearly all day yesterday, and the indications at this writing are not favorable for a cessation.

There has not been a single arrival aside from the daily packets since Sunday. The Argosy is due here from Cincinnati to-night, and we may expect the J. N. McCullough in some time to-morrow.

The Ingomar, for Wheeling, and Saint Marys, for Cincinnati, were the only departures.

The Julia No. 2 is the regular packet for Zanesville to-day, leaving at 4 p. m.

The R. C. Gray, Capt. Anderson, is announced for Madison and Louisville. She will take Memphis and New Orleans freight with the privilege of reshipping.

The V. F. Wilson, with five barges and two boats, and 90,000 bushels of coal for Louisville, and the Whale, with ten barges and 100,000 bushels of coal for Cincinnati, departed yesterday.

An Oil City telegram in the forenoon yesterday reported forty-six inches in the Allegheny at that point and at a stand.

Private advices report that Capt. Stockdale's boat, the "Sallie," arrived at Fort Sully on April 29th. She had not moved or lightened any freight up to that time. River low and falling, but channel cutting out; five boats had passed Sully ahead of the Sallie, as follows: Deer Lodge, 10th, Cora, 13th, Success and Nile, 18th, and Only Chance on the 18th. The Sallie had passed eleven boats up to that time, as follows: Antelope, Henry Adkins, Huntsville, Ida Stockdale, Mountaineer, Octavia, Columbia, St. Luke, Miner, Benton and Peninah.

The same letter also says: I do think the Sallie and a few other boats will get through, but I do not believe that one-half of the boats that have started will see Benton in 1868.

The Ida Rees No. 2, from Oil City, is due here to-day.

The Bayard, Capt. A. S. Shepard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon.

The connection of the Ohio rivers with Lake Erie by canal is a measure now entertained by the Pennsylvania Legislature. A communication addressed to a leading Senator of that body declares:

"The Ohio river cannot be said to be fully improved until its natural extension is improved—until, indeed, it shall be connected with lake Erie. I do not think that nature ever intended that the two great internal lines of navigation on this continent, the one debouching into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the other into the Gulf of Mexico, should remain forever unconnected. The physical geography country is full of hints for connections of these grand thoroughfares. Thus, Lake Michigan may very easily be connected with the Northern Upper Mississippi by means of several depressions crossing the intervening country; and thus the Ohio or the eastern Upper Mississippi may be also connected with lake Erie."

The cost of this proposed work is estimated at $30,000,000.

The Princess made the trip from St. Louis to Fort Smith, on the Arkansas, and back in fourteen days' running time; total distance there and back, 2,400.

The latest accounts the steamer Last Chance was hard aground in Osage, above the town named Warsaw.

We clip the following items from the Louisvilles Courier, of Sunday: The towboat Collier passed down yesterday with 120,000 busqels of coal for Cairo.

The towboat John Dravo arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday wtlh 100,000 bushels of coal.

The Mary Davage loaded barges Carondelet with specimens of iron ore for the Pittsburgh furnaces.

The towboat A. J. Baker arrived from New Orleans yesterday with eight empty barges. She will return to New Orleans with a tow from this port.

We extract the following items from our St. Louis exchanges, of Saturday: The Wild Duck, from Pittsburgh, had two barges heavily laden with manufactured articles from Pittsburgh, of which about 400 tons goes to the Upper Mississippi via Northern Line.

The Hawkeye No. 2, from Parkersburg, brought 2,000 barrels of petroleum "in bulk," and will take back 300 tons iron ore.

FROM THE MOUNTAIN BOATS.—The following letter was received yesterday:

STEAMER, PENINAH, ST. JOHN'S LANDING, May 1st.

W. J. KOUNTZ:

DEAR SIR: We arrived here at six p. m. to-day. We are getting along very well. This is ninety miles below Fort Sully. The Ida Steckdale is one hour and a half ahead of us at this place. The Henry Adkins went port here this morning. We are gaining on most all of the boats that left ahead us. The Mountaineer is only one day of us. We have been ahead of the Octavia for the last two days. The river is very low and on a stand. All well on board.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES EARLE.

Captain Haney also writes, that the Peninah is the best steamer he was ever on. We expect to hear of him purchasing an interest in her.

SILVER MINES.—We shall, in a few days, send an agent to Silver Mountain, Colorado, to develope ten different Lodes of Silver Ore, discovered and located by experienced miners and situated in an unusually rich mining district. It is intended to have them fully developed before going to the expense of erecting buildings, machinery, &c. For this development the Company have determined to sell a limited amount of the stock at a rate which will place purchasers on the same footing as the proprietors themselves. For full particulars apply to B. McLAIN & CO., mh26 123 Fourth street.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 139¼.

THE concurrent resolution to adjourn Congress to the 26th inst., failed in the Senate on Saturday. No business of importance is, however, likely to be transacted this week.

THE New York gold-gamblers regard the development of new measures for currency-inflations as the next thing upon the cards with which their Washington friends are winning all the tricks.

Ross promised six different persons to vote for conviction. When his shameful treachery was revealed his sense of shame seemed not wholly lost, and was apparent to every observer.

IT seems that Senator Ross, of Kansas, is a very particular friend of Miss VINNIE REAM, the fascinating sculptress, and that she has been an active and persuasive advocate for JOHNSON'S acquittal. The charming artist will never bust an American Senator more successfully than she has done if for Ross.

THE present Legislature of Arkansas, which has colored members in both branches, differs in another respect, also, from all its predecessors. Every member of the present body can write his own name in a legible hand, a mastery of scholarship never before known in the legislative history of the State.

OUR Chicago correspondence, by mail and telegraph, affords a very instructive and reliable report of the sentiments which actuate Republican delegates, and of the drift of their preferences for the Vice-Presidency. The GAZETTE is represented by a gentleman who has access to the most confidential councils of the party, and whose judgment commands the confidence of his friends.

IT is understood that Senator MORTON has prepared a bill to regulate the bridging of the Ohio and probably including other navigable streams. His bill prohibits the construction of spans of less than five hundred feet in width, and comprehends other wise provisions for the protection of navigation, with due regard to the great railway interests which are also involved in the question. We invoke the speedy action of both Houses on this measure.

WE CONGRATULATE the loyal press of Chicago our cotemporaries of the Republican and Journal, upon their fidelity to principle, their unflinching courage under trial, and their triumphant vindication of an ample title to the confidence of the Republicans of the Northwest, in these days of corruption and treason. Those journals present, in these particulars, so conspicuous a contrast to other shameful examples of venality and treachery in the press of that region, that their future eminence, as exponents of the Republican faith, will hereafter neither be doubted by the people nor disputed by any competition.

REBELS at Washington celebrated the President's acquittal by the same conspicuous demonstrations of satisfaction with which they used to exult over Union reverses in armies. In the same spirit the Philadelphia Democracy talked of burning the Union League Club House, and in New York they threatened to mob the Tribune office for the word "treason" on its bulletin-board. These straws show how the current will set throughout the rebel States, when they discover that loyal Union men have no longer the protection of an American Senate. We may safely anticipate the most sickening reports of outrage and crime. The "lost-cause" is more than half redeemed rebellion, allied and sustained by the fresh treason at the Capital, will once more claim the mastery of the situation.

WE ADMIRE the credulity of Republicans who can be persuaded to believe that the President will now reform the temper and designs of his administration in the interests of patriotism and wise statesmanship. The man is incapable of learning any profitable lessons from experience. His wrong-headed and wrong-hearted perversity will lead him to view the result of last Saturday's vote as a proof of his own personal popularity. A result which is due, as he must be well aware, to the use of the most corrupt appliances, he will soon bring himself to regard as a vindication of the purity and wisdom of his administration. He is notoriously prone to that sort of self-deception and must be a blood-relative of that man who told a falsehood so well that he believed it himself. As for reorganizing his cabinet by the admission of Republican members, he will not do it while a vote is pending on the other articles, he will not do it after his final acquittal on all of them, and he will never do it so long as the Democratic party exists. If he remains in office until March next, he will signalize the reaction of his administration by a still more decided and destructive policy of usurpation in authority and of obstructions to the laws.

On this point, a cotemporary remarks:

As to the President's readiness to agree with the Republicans, this is only a repetition of the story circulated in February, 1867, when it was asserted—while the reconstruction acts were pending in Congress—that Mr. Johnson was ready and anxious to make up with the Republicans. There is reason to believe that at that time these reports were given out by his intimates with the intention to produce, if possible, a division in the Republican ranks in Congress; it is certain that Mr. Johnson, in the end, denied having had any intention to leave his own ground; and the severity with which he criticised the reconstruction bills in his veto message showed that he had no desire to give up.

UNIFORM SEWERAGE.

There is no subject more worthy attention than that of Sewerage. As Paris is the best drained city in the world, Pittsburgh is the worst. Of late, spasmodic efforts have been made to improve drainage, but those making them were not sufficiently impressed with the importance of the subject, to follow out their plans to attain any practical result. Were it not that the air in which we live and breathe is heavily charged with chemical agencies, which effectively neutralize the malaria arising from our filthy gutters and streets, we should annually have to undergo the scourge of a pestilence worse ten-fold than those which sweep over with such awful and wicked vengeance the filthier quarters of the old world. The proverbial good health of our people is not attributable to careful sanitary precautions taken to render ours a fitting abode for mortals prone to sickness, disease and death. The dense volume of smoke which continually rests, like an angry scowl on the face of heaven, permeating the air we breathe, fucating every object around and about us is far more potent in preserving the public health than would be the well directed efforts of a dozen Boards of Health, with unlimited pecuniary means at their command. We have been slow to provide proper sewerage for our city, and if the coming decade of years is marked by the same growth of population as has characterized the past corresponding period, a uniform system of drainage will have to be adopted or despite the redeeming and purifying atmosphere, the city will become the lasting hot-bed of disease and death.

That a city can be properly and effectively drained has been ably and amply demonstrated in a learned and searching report recently laid before the Allegheny City Councils by CHARLES DAVIS, Esq., Civil Engineer of that city. This gentleman has given much study to the question of sewerage, and, after a careful perusal of his masterly treatise on the subject—for it is of higher order in a literary point of view than a mere formal report—we are prepared to award it first place amongst the works bearing on the subject. The author displays a keen appreciation of all that is good in sewerage systems in use throughout the world, points out popular errors with fidelity, and adds many invaluable suggestions originating with himself. He has, by this one stroke, added vastly to the high reputation in scientific matters, hitherto earned, and at the same time furnished our sister city with such a plan for general and universal sewerage, which would, if adopted, make her the healthiest city in the United States, because the cleanest. We have not the space to-day to refer at any length to the clear ideas and theories advanced in the work, but may, at some future time, pay it the attention it so richly deserves. In the meanwhile, we would advise those who are interested in the sewerage of Pittsburgh to procure a copy of the report and peruse the author's views carefully and make special study of the advantageous system proposed. If properly circulated the document will excite considerable attention from the scientific in other cities, and at home where all are immediately interested in it, no one should permit himself to go without its perusal and study.

THE MANUFACTURERS' CONVENTION.

We remind such citizens as are directly interested in the objects for which the adjourned meeting is called on the 27th at Cleveland, that the partial relief which Congress has conceded to their complaints is in a great degree attributable to the influence of the organization last autumn. The representations then authoritatively addressed to the legislative power were based upon such solid facts, expressed with such blunt and truthful fidelity, and backed up so vigorously by the Committee appointed at that meeting, as to have commanded the favorable results thus far attained. But there is much yet to be done. The burthens imposed upon our domestic industry are not yet wholly removed. The entire question of duties upon articles of foreign manufacture is about to engage the attention of Congress, looking toward a radical revision of the system, and a subject of scarcely less importance than either, that of reform in the public expenditure, a matter which, from present indications, merits the popular consideration more decidedly than ever, also demands a ventilation which none are better entitled to give to it than the manufacturers who are so deeply concerned, in the way of taxes, in footing the bills. If we can check a degree of the extravagant and profligate outgo, we can let up in the demands of the Treasury for money at present wickedly squandered.

The meeting at Cleveland has an especial importance, in view of two leading considerations:

I. The members of Congress who are moving to secure a more just distribution of duties upon imports, so as to protect American industry from the unjust discriminations now alleged to exist, have a right to demand from their constituents such an expression of the popular sentiment as will strengthen their hands and lend an increased moral power to their legislative movements. Manufacturers cannot expect their representatives to succeed in the best arranged plans for their especial benefit, or for their general advantage, unless they are promptly and heartily backed up by their constituents. The proposed meeting at Cleveland will have a very wholesome influence in this regard and should be fully attended by all concerned.

II. Legislation in this country, State or National, has come very much under the control of a very unfortunate habit in one particular. Nearly all measures of leading importance owe their success or defeat to the activity, or the neglect, with which the popular interests are maintained by outside or lobby influence on the part of those interested. We need not now stop to deplore the evils of this pernicious practice; we have only to remind our readers that it flourishes as vigorously at Washington as elsewhere, and that they will find it for their interest to govern themselves accordingly. If the manufacturers of the country are not actively represented in the ante-chambers of Congress, when tariffs and questions of excise are under discussion, they may be sure that antagonistic interests will occupy the field and improve their opportunity. The duty of the Convention in this particular is therefore apparent.

The meeting of the Autumn was very fully attended from the New England States and from Philadelphia. But the business of this great manufacturing district which centres about Pittsburgh was inadequately represented, in numbers, although not in ability, while the Convention met within six hours' ride of our doors. Let us hope, that, as none will deny the very great importance of the questions to be considered at the meeting next week, so there will be a delegation in attendance, from Pittsburgh and its vicinity, which shall be creditable to an intelligent spirit of enterprise, and faithfully a reflex of our deep interest in the proposed deliberations.

THE Chicago Tribune has been, until Monday last, an able, uncompromising and consistant advocate of impeachment. In its issue of that morning, an article, written on the day before the Senatorial traitors revealed themselves, suggested that the impeachment might fail, and attempted, in advance, a defense for Republican Senators who should be found voting for an acquittal. On Tuesday, and since, it has steadily sustained Mr. TRUMBULL and the rest. Of course, this change of front has plunged it into hot water, and it has squirmed ever since. On Thursday, it was forced to make the following admission:

"The Chicago Tribune thought then, and thinks now, that upon the charge of having violated the Office-Tenure law by the removal of Stanton, and appointment of Thomas, the Senate being at the time in session, he had violated the law and ought to be convicted."

The mystery of its sudden conversion from a Republican newspaper to something else, is explained very clearly by the statements current in the press, and not yet denied, that Senator GRIMES has become a large stock-holder in the Tribune, and also by the statement, in the Washington special to the Cincinnati Chronicle, that;—

"Senator Trumbull had exhibited to several Senators a letter from the principal editor of the Chicago Tribune, in which he was assured that if he would vote for the acquittal of the President, that paper would defend such vote, and charge the failure of impeachment upon the 'Wade faction.'"

Of course, the milk in the cocoa-nut is fully accounted for. The half-score of journals, once known as Republican, which now, like the Tribune, are champions of Senatorial honesty, are perhaps entitled to the same explanation.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Arrival of Delegates — The Senatorial Treachery and What is Thought of it—Conservative Dodges—The Nominations—Wade and Colfax—The Pennsylvania Delegation—Contested Seats, &c.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 17, 1868.

A large proportion of the delegates to the Republican National Convention, which will commence its session in this city on Wednesday, have already arrived, including full representations from most, if not all, the Southern States. With the delegates have come a large number of prominent politicians, either as silent but deeply interested spectators, or as active counsellors and manipulators. By to-morrow evening, it is presumable, the whole body of delegates will be present.

As is natural, the result of the impeachment trial, and the remarkable incidents accompanying that result, are prominent subjects of promiscuous talk and of serious consultation. It is generally considered that the result cannot fail of being unpropitious to the Republican interest, though, on the whole, the confident expectation is indulged that the ultimate damage will be less than the despondent now imagine. FESSENDEN and TRUMBULL are specially selected for malediction. It is felt that they, together with Chief Justice CHASE, are the principal conspirators against the party by which they have been honored and the cause they profess to have most deeply at heart. The friends and apologists of these two Senators endeavor to palliate their course, in the first place, by alleging that the House acted most indiscreetly in sending any Articles of Impeachment up to the Senate, and that this indiscretion was rendered yet more conspicuous by sending up the very Articles on which conviction was demanded. The current reply to this plea is, that these Senators voted for the Office-Tenure Act, and, also, voted that the reasons assigned by the President for removing Mr. STANTON from the War Office were insufficient; that this latter vote was to declare, in significant terms, that the President violated the law and usurped authority; that this was to invite the House to proceed against the President on that ground, and that this public and private invitation was attended and followed up by private and personal assurances and solicitations, all tending to the same end. Silenced by this conclusive reply, as to absolute justification, the friends and apologists of the recreant Senators, urge their implacable hostility to WADE or SUMNER, or both, to excuse the defection. They are soon made to feel that Senators who would confessedly be controlled, when acting upon a matter of this gravity, by personal spite or political ambition, are no better than men who would sell their votes for money; nay, are quite likely to have so sold them, and are now casting about for available excuses, without finding any.

Residents of Illinois do not appear to have that exalted estimate of TRUMBULL'S immaculateness which obtains in certain circles elsewhere. Nor do gentlemen who are here from Maine and Washington give such accounts of FESSENDEN as to sustain the presumption of innocence sought to be raised by his extenuators from his reputation. The fact seems to be that these two men were put forward by others or by themselves, under the impression that their reputations were so exalted that nobody would dare question the purity of their intentions, or cast censure upon any less eminent Senators who should follow their example. In this they were clearly mistaken. Judgment is pronounced against these two men without hesitation. Their honor and honesty are both impeached. Nor is any inclination shown to make any concessions to them in order to prevent them from executing their pre-conceived project of forming a third party as a tender to the Democratic. It is felt that they have done their worst, and that they must soon sink into an insignificance equal to that of DOOLITTLE, COWAN and DIXON.

The Conservatives are here in considerable force, and, aided by the Tribune of this city, are trying to persuade the delegates that true wisdom dictates dealing very gingerly with the betrayers; that, at the most, there has been only an unfortunate difference of opinion which ought not to work estrangement among those who have been friends for many years, and who have important national objects in common yet to be accomplished. This is a virtual confession that the traitors are surprised how ineffectual a refuge their reputations have proved against the indignation of betrayed constituencies. It is really amusing to hear and read how these Conservatives denounce the President, not only as unwise, passionate, and bull-headed, but as a persistent and intentional usurper.

This much, however, is certain, that the Convention will abate nothing of the honored principles or traditionary policy of the organization to soothe either the President or TRUMBULL and FESSENDEN and their associates in infamy in the Senate. While it does not now seem probable that the Convention will go out of its way to formally denounce the conspirators, there will be no letting down, in any particular, in order to secure their co-operation henceforward. The feeling among the Radicals is, that the sooner those men take up new political associations, the better.

GRANT will evidently be nominated for President by acclamation. Some of the delegates, if they felt free to follow their individual predilections, would be likely to name another; but the defection of CHASE has lessened the number greatly. A month ago his name was a tower of strength. It is so no longer.

One-half the delegations have each a favorite name for Vice President; but with no indications of clinging to them with any tenacity. These favorites are men who have won local distinction, mainly as Governors of their respective States during the war. They did well, and their constituencies are duly grateful, as they indicate in this complimentary manner. But most of these men are not in the circle from which the Vice Presidential candidate will be taken. WADE and COLFAX have each much absolute strength, and when the local favorites shall be set aside, will divide the second choices almost entirely between them. It is urged by the Conservatives that WADE ought not to be taken out of deference to TRUMBULL and FESSENDEN, but the Radicals feel that as the case stands they owe those men no deference; nay, that to set WADE aside would be to admit that opposition to him was the real as well as the ostensible reason why those Senators voted to acquit. Such a reason, doubtless, is discreditable enough, but the feeling is almost universal, that there is, if possible, a still lower and blacker reason by which they were governed.

The Pennsylvania delegates are nearly all here; but they are by no means united in supporting the claims of GOV. CURTIN to the Vice Presidency. Mr. A. K. MCCLURE is here, as his Lieutenant, outside the delegation, and a more accomplished manager we could not desire. Mr. QUAY, by virtue of a recent invitation, is present, but not on the side of the Governor. S. A. PURVIANCE, J. D. CAMERON, and other delegates appointed in their respective districts, but ignored by the State Convention, are on hand prepared to urge their claims. They will insist that Mr. GROW, Chairman of the State Committee, shall put their names on the list, that they may participate in the organization of the delegation. The contest, as a matter of routine, will go to the Committee on Organization, and the ultimate decision will be made by the Convention.

As between WADE and COLFAX, the former now seems to be ahead; the result on Impeachment, so far, tending to strengthen rather than weaken his position.

There is no doubt, no hesitation, no disposition to turn back on any question of principle. On the contrary, the action of the Convention promises fully to meet the just expectations of the Republican party.

WANDERER.

—The General Assembly of Ohio adjourned yesterday until November 23d.

METHODISM.

Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The General Conference of the M. E. Church assembled at the usual hour, Bishop Clark in the chair. After the reading of the journal, the order of business was taken up and a large number of petitions presented on the lay delegation subject. At half past eleven o'clock the address of the Laymen's Convention of last Thursday was laid before the Conference.

Dr. Wise presented a remonstrance of the Board of Managers of the Tract Society against the removal of the headquarters from New York to Philadelphia.

On motion of Dr. Reddy, the Conference resolved to suspend the call for petitions, memorials and appeals after Thursday, 21st inst.

A memorial from the Mississippi Conference was presented by Rev. G. Haven, of Boston, protesting against the formation of separate Colored Conferences.

Rev. Mr. Lanahan, of Boston, offered a resolution protesting against the selection of a large majority of army and navy chaplains from one of the smallest denominations in the country, that is the Protestant Episcopal.

Rev. Dr. Walden, of Cincinnati, offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Book Concern to inquire what changes may be necessary in the management of the Quarterly Review to adapt it to the larger class of readers.

Rev. Dr. Pearin, of Knoxville, offered a resolution that Book agents at New York be instructed to establish and publish a weekly religious newspaper in Tennessee or Georgia.

Rev. Mr. Shumate, of Missouri, offered a resolution to so amend the discipline as to provide for the introduction of lay delegates into the annual and general Conferences, accompanied with a plan.

Rev. Dr. Paster, of New York, offered a resolution in favor of taking all Conference collections under four general calls.

Rev. Mr. Wakely, of New York, offered a resolution against the election of any general Conference officer by acclamation. Adopted.

Rev. Dr. Curry, of New York, submitted a plan for lay delegation, which was referred without reading.

The election of General Conference officers was made the order for 10 o'clock on Tuesday, the 26th inst.

Dr. Wentworth, of Troy, submitted a resolution that the Committee on Missions be instructed to consider and report on the expediency of separating the home from the foreign department, with an office for the foreign in the West and for the latter in the East.

The Committee on Episcopacy reported in part endorsing the administration of the Bishops so far as it had come under their review.

Dr. Reed, from Committee on Church Extension, presented a report in part, which was ordered printed.

The Special Committee on the Foreign Christian Union reported that collections be taken in its behalf so far as may be found compatible with other church interests.

O. Hoyt, Chairman of the Committee appointed at the Laymen's Convention to prepare and present an address to the Conference, presented an address, which was read by the Secretary. It stated that five only of all the annual Conferences voted against the measure, and that the preponderance in its favor of petitioners to this Conference was as ten to one. The address goes on to argue at length, in the most respectful language, that all the highest interests of the Church will be promoted by this concession to the laity.

Dr. Haven read a telegram from the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church Conference, now being held in Washington, asking if a delegation would be received by the General Conference, if furnished credentials to it.

The Secretary was ordered to answer by telegraph informing them that they would receive a cordial and hearty reception.

—The application for admission to bail of John C. Braine, the river pirate, has been refused.

This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

"BLESSINGS BRIGHTEN AS THEY TAKE THEIR FLIGHT."

Home, friends and all the enjoyments of life seem infinitely more dear to the sufferer from nervous debility when the probability is that, ere long, he must leave them forever. When the health has become impaired, and the strength is failing, then life looks more alluring. Stimulants are the only means of restoration in cases of nervous debility. The great difficulty has been to provide a stimulant possessing not only medicinal merit, but one affording permanent relief. If HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is resorted to in such cases, its beneficial effects will soon become apparent in the buoyancy of spirits and renewed strength of the hitherto dejected patient. Experience has proved this preparation to be "the Remedy of the age" for nervous debility, as well as all diseases arising from derangement of the stomach and liver.

Persons advanced in life, and feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS—an elixir that will instil new life into their veins; restore, in a measure, the ardor and energy of more youthful days; build up their shrunken forms and give health and vigor to their remaining years. Those who are in the least afflicted with Dyspepsia, Ague, Languor, Nausea, or any other troublesome and dangerous disease, arising from a disordered system, should not hesitate to avail themselves of the benefit derived from this great remedy.

The immense quantities of this invaluable tonic that are consumed, and which is steadily increasing, year by year, is sufficient in itself to disarm the most skeptical.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop.

JOHN SCANLAN,
Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. But these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT CONSULTING OFFICE FOR LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND TREATMENT OF CHRONIC DISEASES, No. 120 PENN STREET, FROM 9 A. M. UNTIL 3 P. M.

THE REBEL DEMOCRACY.—Col. Withers, the Conservative candidate for the Governorship of Virginia, will stump various portions of the State. He is a native of Campbell county, and about forty-five years of age. He was Colonel of the Eighteenth Virginia (rebel) Infantry in the war of the rebellion, and in 1865 was a candidate for Congress from the Lynchburg District. For the last two years he has been editor of the Lynchburg Daily News. Gen. Walker, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, also served in the rebel army, and as Brigadier General commanded at one time the "Stonewall Brigade."

CITY OF PITTSBURGH WATER LOAN.

PROPOSALS FOR

OF THE

Bonds of the "Water Extension Loan,"

Will be received at the office of the CITY CONTROLLER, Fourth street.

These are COUPON BONDS, bearing interest at the rate of SEVEN PER CENT. per annum, payable semi-annually, at the office of the City Treasurer, and the Bonds are to be paid off in twenty-five years from April 1, 1868.

By Act of Assembly the Revenue of the Water Works is pledged for the payment of the Bonds and Coupons, and the latter are by law made receivable for Water Rents, and the Act authorizing the Loan creates a SINKING FUND of not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have been issued in pursuance of said Act. The Councils are bound to appropriate annually a sufficient sum for interest, and not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have issued to go into the Sinking Fund.

The proceeds of these Bonds can only be used for the extension and improvement of the City Water Works, which will increase the revenue, while at present it is far greater than is required to insure the payment of interest and retirement of the Bonds.

The Bonds are EXEMPT FROM STATE, COUNTY and CITY TAX, which, together with all the foregoing advantages, make the Bonds the most desirable security offered to the public.

Bids under par will not be considered.

By order of Finance Committee.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, May 18, 1868.

Financial matters were very dull to-day, partly on account of the inclemency of the weather, but more on account of the unsettled condition of the future policy of the Government as regards the further issues of paper circulation. It seems as if the English people had construed the acquittal of the President, so far as it went, as being favorable to an early settlement of all our internal troubles, and are likely to continue to invest in our national securities. The fact itself of selling our promises to pay at an early day in specie what realizes but seventy per cent., may not speak high for the financial condition of a country, but our riches in the products of the soil will enable us to pay a high interest and stave off payment for a few years.

Gold is weak and dull with little doing; the market is without any speculative purchasers, and sellers at higher rates will prefer to await further developments before covering. It is likely that the market will be in this condition until after the Chicago Convention is over.

In stocks, there was a remarkable weakness in Express stocks, and it seems as if that once so much coveted property had altogether come to distrust with the people as an investment.

Money is easy at 8 to 10 per cent. for endorsed paper; sight names will not be taken for less than 12 to 15 per cent. Business improving.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Mining Shares—Corydon, 25; Quartz Hill, 95; Quicksilver, 29¼.

—Of the $46,010,530 compounds now outstanding, $23,927,600 matured on the 15th inst. Interest will at once cease upon them whether they are presented for payment or not. Most of these notes are in the hands of the national banks. They have been held as a lawful money reserve for deposits, and in this capacity have done very profitable service. The three per cent. certificates which the United States Treasurer is ready to issue in exchange for the compounds can, to a certain extent, be advantageously held by our banks as lawful money reserve. There are about twenty-two millions of these three per cent. available in payment of compounds, and those banks which present the notes in season can secure them if they so wish. Many of the banks are already sending in the compounds for exchange. The Treasury allows interest to the day of conversion.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, May 18, 1865.

CATTLE.

The supply of cattle this week, although somewhat larger than last week, about four hundred and fifty head, fell considerably short of the demand, and as a consequence, prices were very firm, and in some cases higher, especially for the commoner grades. We do not think it an exaggeration to say that double the number of cattle on sale to-day could have been sold, and we would advise our friends in the country if they have fat cattle, to bring them here, and that, too, right speedily, as the present extreme prices cannot very much longer be sustained. As we have already stated, four hundred or even five hundred head of cattle is not much over half the number required to supply properly and fairly the demand at these yards, and besides, prices are relatively higher here than in any other market in the country. There was a large attendance of stock buyers to-day, and we feel satisfied that there was not one third of the number of this kind of cattle required, and as consequence, many of these buyers would have to go home as they came. Fat cattle were also in good demand, and sold readily at full prices, say from 9 to 9¾c, and we doubt if even at these extreme prices the butchers were fully supplied. The following is a full report of the sales:

Blackstock & Hazlewood sold 46 head of fair to prime Chicago steers at 9¼ to 9¾.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass wholesaled 20 head of stockers at 6,10; and retailed 35 head Chicago steers at 8¼ to 9¼.

Marks & Traurman report 85 head Chicago steers at 8¼ to 9¾.

Hartman & Shamberg, 36 head Chicago steers at 8¼ to 9¼.

Greenwald & Kahn, 55 head Chicago steers at 8¼ to 9¾.

Haas & Kraus, 67 head Chicago steers at 8¼ to 9¼.

M. Verner, 18 head Chicago steers at 8,90 to 9,50.

L. Rothchilds wholesaled 12 head of prime Chicago steers to F. Beilsteine at 9¼; retailed 21 head at 8¼ to 9¼.

Myers & Needy report 51 head Chicago steers at 8¾ to 9½.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was a moderate supply of Sheep and Lambs to-day, and with a continued steady demand, the market ruled firm, and prices, compared with last week, were well sustained. Notwithstanding the offerings were a little larger than usual, so far as we could learn, there were none left over unsold, there being, it appears, a good demand for all the different kinds in market. It is probable that the extreme prices for cattle has a tendency to increase the demand for Sheep, and we are surprised, under the circumstances, that consumers do not buy more mutton and less beef.

Gibson wholesaled 68 head, averaging 76 lbs. to Emerick & Co., at 6½ to 7.

Beeler reports having sold 70 head of Butler Co. Lambs at $2 to $3,50 per head.

Garwin & Co. report having sold 103 head at 5¾ to 6¾c per pound for Sheep, and Lambs at an average of $2,75 per head.

M. Humes reports having sold 14 head of course wooled Sheep, from Beaver Co., at 6½; and 26 head of nice fat Lambs at $4 per head.

Emerick & Co. retailed 68 head of Ohio Sheep at 6½ to 7.

HOGS.

There is little or nothing doing in this class of stock at these yards. The extreme prices has a tendency to restrict the demand, which at best, is always very light at this season of the year. Quotations may be fairly given at 9 to 11c, as to quality and condition.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, May 18, 1868.

CRUDE—The market was again exceedingly quiet to-day, though compared with Saturday, prices are without quotable change. Sale of 1600 bbls, for immediate delivery, at 11c; and 1000—Saturday evening—for same delivery, at same figure; for future deliveries there were no sales, and the market is quiet and unchanged. Notwithstanding the arrivals of oil have been quite liberal for some time past, aggregating over seventy thousand barrels last week alone, there is but little oil on the market in the hands of dealers, the great proportion of that which has been coming in having either been put in on old contracts or pumped into tank. It is thought, however, that there will be considerable oil down on the present water, and that a much larger proportion of it will be for sale than there was on any of the preceding freshets. Oil City telegrams quote oil firm at $3,70 per bbl on the Creek.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was exceedingly dull and weak to-day, not a single sale reported, and compared with last week prices, if anything, are a shade lower. May oil is being offered at 30c, buyer's option, June at 29½ to 30c, and July at 30c. For delivery on the 22d or 23d, about which time it is supposed the "corner" will be attempted, there are offers to buy, we understand, at 31½ to 32c. From the above, it will be seen that all early deliveries are off considerably, compared with last week, and even at the reduction there are but very few buyers. There was a "line" sold in Philadelphia running from June to December, at 30c. The Pennsylvania Railroad, notwithstanding it is regarded as a monopoly, and is called many hard names, has done one good thing; in order to assist our refiners in getting through with the expected "corner," this company to-day placed one hundred and seventy cars on the Valley Road, all of which will be taken to Philadelphia in the shortest possible time when loaded.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by river and rail reported to-day were as follows:

J. Gallagher	500	Jas. Wilkins	2500

FARM, GARDEN AND KITCHEN.

Live Fences.

A correspondent of the Owatonna (Minnesota Journal says: "The subject of live fence has often been discussed in the agricultural papers of the West, but farmers generally have manifested an almost criminal apathy on the subject. I propose, with your leave, to give a few items on the subject. Five years ago there was a man selling white willow sprouts in this neighborhood and among others sold Dexter Smith some five hundred. As Mr. Smith was the only really successful cultivator of the willow in this vicinity, I will give his method of cultivation, with the understanding that the land must have been thoroughly cultivated where the willow is to be propagated. Turn four furrows together, two on each side, on a straight line, put the cutting (should not be less than one foot in length) one foot apart, put from four to six inches of the cuttings into the ground as soon as the frost is fairly out in the spring. The cuttings should be taken from the tree and immediately set out, and should be cultivated like corn for three years. They should be protected from all kinds of stock for four years, yet all the protection Mr. Smith's have had is an ordinary outside fence. He has now about one hundred rods of willows from one to five years old. They are from eighteen to twenty-five feet high and from four to seven inches through. Mr. Smith has proved by actual demonstration that a good live fence can be raised in five years which will last an age, and at the same time provided himself with a shelter from the wind and a splendid ornament to his farm."

Cattle Stalls.

As to stalls—we have seen lately in one neighborhood up in the mountain farm region of Pennsylvania, three instances of what appear to us to be comfortable, common sense stalls for cattle. The stalls are wide enough to admit of the animals turning in them, the sides closely boarded up, the floor, a dais, raised seven or eight inches above that of the passage way in the rear, with an outward pitch of about three inches in the length of the stall, the entrance of each closed with two leaved folding doors opening inwards. There are no rings, stanchions, or any tying or fastening by the head. No animal, not absolutely a fool, will ever stand, head down hill, and always, in every instance, we found the cattle in these stalls, standing "right end up," well up to the rack, and as clean and comfortable as animals ever need be.

As all bovine animals have their little inches and inconveniences to attend to as well as ourselves, and would be better for the use of their tongue with which they can reach nearly every part of their bodies, this freedom of the stall seems to be a very good common sense arrangement; besides providing comfortable quarters in all cold, stormy weather. The stalls need not be expensive, being all made of rough materials, and a sufficient opening above the folding doors to afford free ventilation.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Good Sized Nebraska Farm.—Messrs, Clark & Craig, of Cadiz, O., have purchased the whole of the southeast township in Stanton county in this State, and propose putting the whole of it under cultivation, amounting to twenty-three thousand and forty (23,040) acres. They have instructed their agent to erect a house, stables and other buildings in the center of the said township, and divide the farm into four parts by breaking a strip two sods wide around the outside and one across the middle, east and west, and another north and south, leaving the house (center) in the morning and make the circuif of one quarter of the township (12 miles) in one day, arriving at the house at night. The agent is to have three hundred and twenty (320) acres broken this year, and next spring will plant it in timber. He is also instructed to put out one million of Osage Orange plants next spring, inclosing the whole township with the hedge.

A writer in "The American Journal ef Horticulture" adopts a plan in budding roses which greatly expedites the work, and is attended with complete success. Instead of baste or worsted, common adhesive plaster is substituted. In this method no tying is necessary, the plaster adhering at once exactly where it is required. The plaster used is the common adhesive plaster bought at the shops, and the writer states that by its use the budding is performed with greater neatness and exactness as well as rapidity.

Salt per Pound.—As to the quantity of salt to be used for butter, something will depend upon its manufacture, and the market for which it is intended. The Orange county butter makers, who obtain the largest prices for their product, use at the rate of a pound and two ounces of salt for a batch of twenty-two pounds of butter. For Winter butter, or butter designed for Winter use, a little more salt is used at the last working.

Bark lice usually hatch during the last of the month, and by observing carefully they may be seen crawling to the outer limbs. A mere speck of any decoction rubbed on with a brush will kill them now; a brush alone is sufficient, as the least touch will mash them. There is no secret in this, but all limbs and branches must be rubbed or there will be another crop next year. The wind blows them from one tree to another, and birds carry them on their feet for miles.

Large sums of money have been taken into Texas this spring for purchasing beeves. It is said $75,000 alone have been paid out in Bell county for them. Large droves of cattle are now wending their way to Missouri from Texas, by way of Arkansas. Recently Texas beeves have been shipped from New Orleans to Louisville. This trade promises to be immense, and will bring in millions of dollars annually to the State.

The Gardener's Monthly recommends the following mode for enriching the soil for young cabbage plants just before they are set out, for the purpose of giving them an early and vigorous start. Make holes with a dibble where the plants are to be set, and then fill these holes with manure water. It soaks away into the surrounding earth, and becomes perfectly diffused through it. The plants are then set in the holes.

Be in no hurry about planting corn. Any time before the 20th of May, and it were better to delay it until the 1st of June, rather than plow the land either too wet or too dry. Take every possible advantage of the weather to mellow the soil. It, at the first hoeing of corn, a handful of unleached ashes be used per hill. it will be found to tell in securing a vigorous start of the plant.

The American Agriculturist says that different kinds of potatoes may be planted in contiguous rows, without mixing the sorts—"in fact this is the best way of comparing the productiveness of the different varieties." We know of one person at least that don't believe that doctrine—insisting that to plant different sorts within reach of the pollen of each is sure to mix and corrupt them.

The Kansas people have found a way to circumvent the grasshoppers. It consists in turning sheep upon the wheat to eat it down so that when the insects come and find nothing they leave in disgust. The wheat recovers from the feeding of the sheep, but if the grasshoppers go over it they take root as well as stalk.

The reports from the peach growers are generally favorable. In New Jersey, orchards on low grounds are said to be damaged, and in other orchards it is reported that the borer has injured many trees. On the whole, however, there is a prospect of an average crop. From Delaware and Maryland the reports are generally favorable. In Pennsylvania some trees have been injured by the mice, and many hundreds of trees have been destroyed. The trees that have escaped the mice now look well, and a fair crop is looked for.

Gardening for ladies.—Make up your beds early in the morning; sew buttons on your husband's shirts; do not rake up any grievances; protect the young and tender branches of your family; plant a smile of good temper in your face, and carefully root out all angry feelings, and expect a good crop of happiness.

If a farmer in Wisconsin plants a row of trees along the road he is exempt from working on the road; whoever hurts one of these little ones is fined five dollars; and the State Horticultural Society offers a premium of one hundred dollars for the best ten acres of forest trees, and fifty dollars for the second best.

Wheat prospects are very flattering in Western Missouri and Kansas. Oats are looking fine, and there will be an extra amount of land sown. Corn is backward, owing to the cool weather, but the farmers are straining every point to get in as much as possible.

They who know least about farming instruct most. How glib they are—plow deep, drain every acre, plant forests, have fine cattle and carpets, grapes by the ton, wine by the hogshead, feed potatoes to hogs, and do other heavenly things.

Examine your trees during the last days of the month and remove all nests of worms as soon as they make their appearance. They usually spin a web from some fork in the tree to the outer limbs, up and down which they travel.

Beans are one of the healthiest, most nutritious, and certainly the cheapest articles of food. Plant plenty for winter use, in addition to the usual summer beans. They like good soil, though poor soil is generally palmed off upon them.

Don't be afraid to raise cabbages for the cows. Plant in rows three feet apart and fifteen inches in the row. Six or seven thousand can be grown on an acre. They can be planted any time before the 15th of July.

Mulch your small fruits enough to keep down weeds and grass. This will save culture and double the crop, by keeping the ground moist. Leaves are excellent, but any litter is good.

Push earnestly against the weeds in your fields and the worms in your fruit trees. The latter promise you a hard battle this season. Diluted lye is death to them.

Evergreens may be safely moved during all this month, but care must be taken not to expose their roots to the sun and wind.

When the millenium of farming is reached, white clover will be valued equally with red clover.

Apples and peaches will, from present prospects, be very plenty in Illinois.

Wheat everywhere improves in Ohio as the Summer advances.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD COMPANY

OFFER A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THEIR

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

AT PAR,

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST

PAYABLE IN GOLD.

The Great Pacific Railroad Line, extending 1731 miles from Omaha, on the Missouri River, to the tide-waters of the Pacific Ocean, is being built by two powerful Companies—THE UNION PACIFIC, beginning at Omaha, building west, and the Central Pacific of California, beginning at Sacramento, building east, until the two roads shall meet.

Both Companies have prosecuted the work with great vigor, the Union Pacific having already expended over

THIRTY MILLION DOLLARS,

And the Central over TWENTY MILLIONS, upon their respective parts of the undertaking. THE UNION PACIFIC HAVE COMPLETED 550 MILES—have iron and other materials for two hundred miles more upon the ground, and one hundred additional miles are ready for the track. They will have a much larger force employed this year than ever before, and it is expected that between will be in operation during 1868. There seems to be no reasonable doubt that the distance between Omaha and Sacramento will be traversed by rail in 1870.

THE GOVERNMENT GRANTS 12,800 acres of land, and its Bonds to the average amount of $28,000 per mile, to aid in the construction of the line, and authorizes the issue of the First Mortgage Bonds now offered for sale, to the same amount and no more. The Government takes a SECOND lien, and gives to the First Mortgage Bondholder a prior lien for their security, to which a large paid-up capital is added. The Bonds cannot be issued except as each section of twenty miles is accepted by Government commission, so that they always represent a real property.

It is universally admitted that on the completion of the Union Pacific Railroad, its through business will make it one of the most profitable in the world—but its way or local business is already several times the interest on its bonds; so that, if not another mile were built, they would be a secure investment.

THE NET EARNINGS for eight months of last year on an average of 386 miles are officially reported at $1,069,136, while the interest on all the Bonds it could issue on that length of road for that time, reduced to currency, was only $345,856.

The amount paid by the Government for the transportation of troops, munitions, stores and mails has been, and doubtless will continue to be, much more than the interest on the United States Second Mortgage Bonds. If it is not, the charter provides that after the road is completed, and until said bonds and interest are paid, at least five per cent. of the net earnings of the road shall be applied to such payment.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each, and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. At the present rate of gold, these bonds pay an annual income on their cost of

NEARLY NINE PER CENT.,

AND IT IS BELIEVED THAT THEY WILL SOON BE AT A PREMIUM.

The Company have but a very limited supply of their Bonds remaining on hand, but any subscriptions accepted to a greater amount than can be filled from Bonds now in the Company's possession, will be supplied from the New Bonds to be issued on that portion of the road completed in the Spring, in the order in which they are received.

The Company reserve the right to advance the price of their bonds to a rate above par at any time, and will not fill any orders or receive any subscriptions on which the money has not been actually paid at the Company's office before the time of such advance.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

JAMES T. BRADY & Co., corner of Wood and Fourth Streets;

HART, CAUGHEY & Co., corner of Wood and Third Streets;

S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth Street;

PH. R. MERTZ, corner 5th and Wood Sts.;

ROBINSON BROS., 78 Fourth street;

AND IN NEW YORK

At the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau Street, and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 59 Wall Street, and by the Company's advertised agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, the Means for Construction, and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices, or to any of the advertised agents.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS!

A House Supposed to be Haunted—The Mystery Explained.

For some time past the occupants of a first-class boarding house, on Third street, in this city, have been exceedingly annoyed by manifestations of rather a singular character, which were conducted in such a mysterious manner as to lead the more credulous of the household into the belief that the spirit of some departed mortal had been induced to return to earth, and had taken up its abode in the house.

The supposed ghost, spirit, or "spook," appeared to have an uncontrollable mania for throwing small pieces of coal at the heads of the boarders and others, and always manifested this propensity to the greatest degree during meal hours while the boarders were gathered around the table. First one would get a tap on the head and then another, but no one knew from whence the missiles came. When there was no one in the house for the mischievous spirit to annoy by pelting them with coal stones, it would amuse itself by throwing stones through the windows. Some of the stronger minned victims were of the opinion that the annoyances came from the children in an adjoining house, but this idea soon exploded, as the coal stones struck them on the head when the windows and doors were closed, showing conclusively that they did not come from the outside, unless by some superhuman inducement. The servant girl, who is about sixteen years of age, according to her statement, was more frequently the object at which the invisible "coal heaver" sent its missiles than anyone else and upon one or two occasions actually swooned, as it was supposed, from the effects of the blow she received from this mysterious agency. This state of affairs continued for several days, and instead of wearing away, as they all supposed it would, the annoyance appeared to increase, the stones came more frequently and with considerably more force than when it was first observed, yet no one was able to account for it. One day, while at dinner, two or three persons had been struck, and a lady boarder at the table, who still entertained the idea that the stones were thrown by the children in the adjoining house remarked that she would not put up with it. She wished they would strike her; if they did, she would have them arrested. She had scarcely concluded the sentence when she was struck on the back of the head by a coal stone about the size of an egg. The servant girl who was standing behind her at once cried out, "oh, you have your wish." The lady examined the windows and doors and found them all closed, and at once gave up the idea of prosecuting the neighbors' children, and became convinced that some evil spirit was at work. Every effort was made to discover the cause of this peculiarly mysterious action, but they all proved fruitless, until within a few days since, when it was discovered by accident. One day last week while the family were sitting round the table, a lump of coal much larger than any previously used by the invisible stone thrower, came rolling into the room. It was picked up by the gentleman of the house and laid on the mantle. The next day it had disappeared. That evening the gentleman was standing on the stairway and observed a stone passing through the hall, he looked in the direction from whence it came and observed the servant girl standing at the other end of the hall, looking as innocent as a sheep. His suspicions were aroused and he at once accused her of throwing the stones, but she most positively denied the charge. He called his wife and requested her to take charge of the girl until he could secure the services of a policeman, stating that he would have her sent to the House of Refuge. This frightened her, and thinking she was detected, admitted that she had thrown the stones, and upon examination her pockets were discovered to be filled with small pieces of coal, just such as she had been pelting the boarders with for weeks. She could give no explanation of the matter, nor any reasons for her conduct.

This, it appears, is not the first time she has evinced a mania of that kind. A German family, where she resided a short time since, were so firmly convinced that their house was haunted, they employed a necromancer, who professed to be able to "lay spirits" of the departed, who so far forgot their calling as to go wandering about the earth. Their windows were broken, and crockery, china and glass ware to the amout of two hundred dollars destroyed, as they supposed, by some invisible hand. The man employed for the purpose made several attempts to quiet the spirit, but it would not remain quiet until the servant girl was discharged, since when it has not given the slightest manifestations of its presence.

What object she can have in thus annoying people has not been ascertained. It is, however, well known that she has a mania for it, which she exercises freely.

The Frightful Fall—Coroner's Inquest Concluded.

The jury impannelled by Coroner Clawson to investigate the cause and manner of the death of Maggie McGinnis, the young lady who fell over the precipice at Everson, Preston & Co.'s mills, Sunday evening, the particulars of which we have published, assembled yesterday morning at the Coroner's office, and after examining several witnesses, whose testimony was in substance what we published, Lizzie Sellers, the little girl who was with the deceased at the time the accident occurred, was called upon, and being but twelve years of age she was not sworn, but allowed to make a statement, which was as follows:

Was asked by deceased if she would accompany her to the river bank; she said she would; when walking along the hill she asked witness if she knew where the Indian cave was; replied yes, but would not go down to it; we started down to the cave, however, and when there she commenced to shake as if she had a fit; I caught hold of her dress, but she got away from me and rolled down the hill; the man on the Second street road waved his hand; there was a man standing above us; think he might have saved her if he had wished; do not know who he was; deceased was subject to spasms; thought at first that she was only playing.

The following verdict was rendered: "That the said Margaret McGinniss came to her death in the Eighth ward, city of Pittsburgh, on the 17th day of May, 1868, by accidentally falling over a precipice on Bluff street, while supposed to be laboring in a fit. The jury would further recommend that a fence or railing be at once erected at this place in order to guard against occurrences of a similar nature."

Pardoned.

William Cunningham, tried and convicted in Fayette county, June 9th, 1866, of burglary, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary, was pardoned a few days since. The pardon was granted upon recommendation of the prison inspectors, for exemplary conduct. Cunningham having divulged to the Warden the plan concocted by some of the inmates to effect an escape, which we published in detail some months since. The offence for which he was consigned to prison was breaking open a shoe shop, owned by Henry Farewell, of Uniontown, Pa., from which several pairs of boots and shoes, and several articles of clothing, belonging to one of the workmen, were taken. A portion of the goods were found on the premises of the prisoner.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

On the opening of the Court yesterday, T. M. Marshall, Esq., one of the counsel in the case of Wilson and Johnson, indicted for conspiracy to defraud the United States, concluded the argument to the jury on the part of the defense. He was followed by District Attorney Carnahan, for the prosecution, who spoke until adjournment. The jury will be charged this morning.

In the bankruptcy branch final discharges were granted, and certificates awarded to R. O. Lurch, Francis Zellers and Alexander Ammon, all of Lewisburg, Union county.

Petitions for final discharge were filed by William Digby, Sr., of Pittsburgh, Nathan Whiting, of Sewickley, and John H. Musser, of Uniontown. The usual orders were made.

William Richards, Jr., of Venango county, filed a petition for adjudication in bankruptcy.

District Court, in Banc.

Yesterday the argument was heard on the application made some time since for a preliminary injunction restraining the Executors of Daniel Negley, deceased, from removing sand from a lot of ground on Highland avenue, in East Liberty. The motion was made on a petition filed by C. B. Seely in behalf of his minor children, which set forth that the ground was bequeatned to the children by Daniel Negley, but that the respondents, E. C. Negley, Peter Seyler, and Andrew Swaitzer, have been taking the sand and other building material from the place. T. M. Marshall, Esq., appeared for the complainant, and W. B. Negley, Esq., for respondents. A preliminary injunction was granted by the Court, and the complainants required to give bonds in $1,000 as security.

A Sneak Thief.

A sneak thief who says his name is William Brown, and purports to come from Philadelphia, undertook to practice his avocation yesterday morning, at his boarding house. Brown boarded at Mr. O'Rourke's No. 9 Wood street, and yesterday morning one of the boarders came into the room rather unexpectedly, and discovered Brown in the act of breaking open a carpet sack which belonged to another boarder. When spoken to about it he said he had some clothes in the sack which he wished to send to the wash woman. He was informed that he could not remove anything from that sack until the owner returned, when he gave up, that project and turned his attention in another direction. The boarder who had broken in upon his arrangements so uncermoniously, was called from the room for a few moments, and during his absence, Brown improved his time by getting out of his old clothes, and getting into a new pair of pants, belonging to some one of his fellow boarders who it appears was at work in Birmingham, after which he put his old pants on over them, and left the premises. A few moments after his departure, the gentleman who had just interrupted him returned to the room, and at once missed the pants, and the inquisitive boarder as well. He made the matter known at the Mayor's office, and officer Messner started in pursuit and arrested Brown, with the pants on him as described above. He was locked up, and an information for larceny will be made against him this morning.

Felonious Assault.

Jacob Schied, a saloon keeper at the corner of Walnut and Main streets, Sharpsburg, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging James Lindsey alias Reddy Henderson, with felonious assault and malicious mischief. He alleges that the accused came to his saloon Sunday afternoon in company with another man, and that they were both intoxicated. The door of the saloon was closed, and they ordered him to open it, saying they wanted something to drink. He refused to comply, whereupon Lindsey kicked a panel out of the door and entered, after which he broke a window and smashed things generally. The prosecutor remonstrated with him and endeavored to save his property from destruction, whereupon Lindsey drew a dirk knife, and made an assault upon him. After breaking a chair and several other articles of furniture he left the premises. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officers McCreary and Herron, who arrested the accused at the Fayette Oil Works, about four miles above Sharpsburg. He was locked up for a hearing.

Summer Resort.

The advertisement of the Stephenson House, Ontario, Canada, appears in another column. Under the present management this house has attained high reputation and commends itself in the highest terms to those desiring to repair to a delightful and health-giving neighborhood during the hot summer months. The winter season has been judiciously spent in thoroughly refitting and refurnishing the house and it will now compare favorably with any first class place of summer resort claiming public patronage. It has a splendid billiard room, large and well appointed ten pin alleys, covered walks, promenades, &c., while the curative qualities of the mineral springs which surround it will command the attention of the invalid. The tourist should not fail to pay the Stephenson House a visit. It is now open for the reception of visitors.

False Pretense.

W. J. Graham made information before Alderman Thomas yesterday, charging George Newell with obtaining goods under false pretence. Graham is proprietor of a stone quarry near Oakland, and the accused was employed by him as a mason. Having no tools to work with, Graham purchased a hammer for him, the cost of which was to be deducted from his wages. He was discharged, however, before the hammer was paid for, and during Graham's absence it is alleged he came to the quarry and got the hammer, representing to the person in charge that it belonged to him. He was arrested, and after having been committed to jail was brought out for a hearing, when the case was settled, the accused returning the hammer and paying the costs.

Correction.—In the account of an accident which occured at the outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, in Allegheny, we stated that Henry Scott was the person injured and that he was employed by the railway company. This we have since learned was a mistake. It was Wilson Scott of the firm of Wallace, Cavit & Co., Wood street. The injured man was removed to the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Cavit, 22 Carroll street, where the limb was amputated just below the knee joint by Drs. Pollock, Hamilton, Irish and one or two others. He was put under the influence of chloroform, and bore the operation with unflinching fortitude.

Inquest Concluded.—The inquest in the case of John Kipe, who was found dead on the track of the Panhandle Railroad near Mansfield, Sunday morning, an account of which we previously published, was concluded yesterday. The jury assembled at Mansfield at five o'clock and after examining a number of witnesses, rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Taken to the Penitentiary.—John Ryan, John Evans and John Snyder, convicted recently in Lawrence county of larceny and sentenced to one year and one month each to the Penitentiary, were taken to that institution yesterday and provided with lodgings.

I. O. O. F.

Last evening the officers of the Grand Encampment proceeded to Lawrenceville, where they instituted a Subordinate Encampment, to be styled "P. Magee Encampment, No. 165." The following officers were elected:

C. Patriarch, A. J. Harbaugh; H. P., C. C. Gregg; S. W., J. Tolhurst; J. W., T. Graham; Scribe, Geo. Fox; Treasurer, A. J. Bender, Jr.

Which were duly installed by the Grand Patriarch, Maurice Finn, with the beautiful and imposing ceremony incident on such occasions.

The encampment starts under the most promising circumstances and with the best prospects of adding one more healthy subordinate to the already numerous ones, which comprises the Patriarchal branch in this jurisdiction. The new encampment is named in honor of P. Magee, Jr., the gentlemanly Superintendent of the Association at Lawrenceville, who has proved himself a devoted member of the Order of Odd Fellows.

The Pointers Again.

Patrick Connelly and Peter Foley reside in the vicinity of the Point, and, like many of their neighbors, occasionally indulge in a bit of a quarrel, which mostly terminates in a rough and tumble fight. Yesterday morning Patrick and Peter had a slight difficulty on Point street, in the First ward, which, as usual, wound up with a fight. Peter, it appears, rather got the advantage of his opponent and gave him a sound body beating. Patrick did not relish the treatment, and made information before the Mayor charging Peter with assault and battery. A warrant was issued, Peter arrested and brought to the Mayor's office for a hearing, when the case was compromised and discharged upon payment of costs by the defendant.

Orderly Wife.

"Wife," said a man, looking for his bootjack, "I have places where I keep my things, and you ought to know it. "Yes," said she, "I ought to know where you keep your late hours—but I don't." There is another thing that every good wife ought to know, and that is that Joseph Liebler, the well-known trunk dealer, No. 104 Wood street, keeps on hand the very best quality of trunks, carpet sacks, valises, hand sacks, and everything in this line of goods, which he offers at very reasonable prices. Remember the place, No. 104 Wood street.

Assault and Battery.—John Bever, a saloon keeper on Ohio street, Allegheny, made information before Alderman Mullin, charging Joseph Kempf with assault and battery and breach of the peace. He alleges that the accused came to his saloon and asked for a drink of liquor on Sunday, whereupon Kempf made an attack, first upon the premises, and after breaking several beer glasses, upsetting the stove and counter and doing many other acts of violence, he struck the prosecutor with his fist and knocked him down. Kempf was arrested, and upon payment of costs and damages for the property he destroyed, the case was compromised.

Larceny of a Trunk.—Elizabeth Babst made information before Alderman Mullin, yesterday, charging Fred. Beechler with larceny. Some weeks since the prosecutrix, it appears, lost a trunk, which contained a large quantity of clothing, &c. The trunk had been left in her room, and one day during her absence it was carried away. Having some reasons for suspecting the defendant, she procured a search warrant, and the officer, upon searching Beechler's house, found the missing article. He was arrested and held for a hearing, and alleges he can account for his possession of the trunk.

Larceny of a Skiff.—Hugh Woods, of Shaler township, made information before Alderman Mullin, yesterday, charging Adam Berger with the larceny of a skiff. He alleges that the skiff, which was chained to a tree on the bank of the Allegheny river in Shaler township, was stolen, and that it was found in the possession of the accused. Berger was arrested and held for a hearing.

Temperance Meeting.—The sixth of the course of lectures before the Allegheny Temperance League, will be delivered this evening in the Second U. P. Church, corner of Sandusky street and South Common, by Rev. John B. Clark, D.D. Subject—"Does the principle of Prohibition interfere with any just rights or liberties of society?"

Nuisance.—Joseph Spencer made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday, charging William Smith with maintaining a nuisance. He alleges that the accused has erected a building on Spruce alley, in the Ninth ward, obstructing the same to the inconvenience of the public. A warrant was issued.

Second Street.—Street Commissioner McFaden informs us that the work of paving Second street will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit of it. The cobble stones for that purpose are nearly all on the ground, and they will be put down as soon as the ground becomes sufficiently dry.

New Crossing.—A flag stone crossing is being put down on Smithfield street at Fifth, from the Postoffice to the opposite side of Smithfield street. This is an improvement that is much needed, and will be welcomed by all pedestrians who are required to traverse that portion of the city.

Strawberries.—There were a few strawberries in market yesterday morning. The venders did not know what to ask for them, on account of the limited supply. The demand, however, was not large, as buyers feared to invest, at "spot" rates.

A Good Job.—Webster street from Grant to Seventh street, was paved thirty-four years ago, and we are informed has not been repaired for ten years. It is now undergoing repairs. Will the Nicolson pavement last so long.

Negotiations of Foreign Ministers—A Condemned Official Performs Hari Kari by Permission—Affairs Between the Mikado and Tycoon.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—The steamer New York from Japan and China, is just entering the harbor, having taken the place of the Great Republic of the regular mail line. The latter, on March 23d, when in latitude thirty north, longitude 178 east, broke her starboard shaft, and after reaching Yokohomo under sail with one wheel, remained there for repairs. The New York left Hong Kong April 19th, and Yokohomo April 28th.

JAPAN NEWS.

Kensaboro, the officer commanding the troops who ordered the firing on the foreigners at Hiago, was executed by order of the Mikado, in the presence of one foreigner from each legation, with an equal number of Japanese officials. The scene was solemn and impressive. Being of high rank, the condemned was permitted to commit hari-kari. After acknowledging his offense, and admitting his trial was fair and sentence just, he advised the Japanese hereafter to treat foreigners with consideration. The foreign representatives requested the government not to confiscate his estate according to Japanese law, but to permit it to descend to his family. The request was granted. The next day the Ministers received letters of apology from the Mikado's government.

On March 5th the Ministers with each of their vessels went to Osaka, intending to re-occupy former legations. They found the British legations destroyed by fire, and the French legation torn to pieces. The American and other legations were untouched.

On March 8th the French sailors surveying off Osaka were attacked by Prince Tosa's men, and eleven Frenchmen were killed and five wounded. The bodies were buried at Higao.

Two days subsequently the Ministers all embarked aboard their vessels.

The French Minister's demand for the execution of the men was concurred in, with an apology from Tosa and the Mikado's Government, also money indemnity. Satisfaction was given as demanded.

On March the 12th, the American Minister left for Yokohamo, taking with him Italian and Prussian Ministers and suits in the United States steamer Monocacy, intending to protect foreign interests there, the Mikado having been informed that that large bodies of troops were marching on Jeddo.

On March 18th the American Minister went to Yeddo, remaining one week, conferring with the Tycoon's officers, and then returned to Yokohomo. He was the last and only Minister at Yeddo.

The Mikado's troops were marching towards Yeddo and straggled largely into Yokohomo, apparently uncontrolled. Disturbances occurring, the people became alarmed. The Ministers conferred with the Governors of Yokohomo, resulting in posting the American, Prussian, French and British soldiers (marines) at the entrances of the settlement, prohibiting the entrance of armed Japanese without legation or government passports. This insured security.

The French, British and Dutch Ministers remained at Hiago. After the settlement of the French indemnity they were invited to an audience with the Mikado at Kiota. Subsequently they returned to Yokanamo.

On April 1st, while passing through the streets of Kiota, Sir Harry Parks, British Minister, was attacked by 2 fanatical priests, wounding eleven of his escort and five horses. He escaped unhurt. One of the priests was killed and the other captured and executed.

The Tycoon counsels peace to the Japanese nation and offers to submit to the will of the Mikado for the good of Japan. The Government of Yokohamo was expected to shortly pass quietly into the Mikado's hands, whose Commission of Foreign Affairs is hourly expected. His envoy to the Tycoon arrived at Yeddo with troops April 27th. The Mikado has notified the Ministers he will faithfully fulfill all existing treaties and engagements contracted by the Tycoon's Government, confirming his acts.

All the foreign Ministers were at Yokohamo April 25th and a large number of war vessels of all nationalities.

The ram Stonewall arrived safely in twenty-nine days from Honolulu.

Both branches of the Japanese Government wanted her. Each, however, preferred that the American Minister should retain her under the American flag at present, which the American Minister has done, awaiting instructions from Washington to whom to deliver. All the foreigners approve his action, and the Japanese acquiesce.

Kentucky Fenian Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, May 18.—The State Fenian Convention met here this morning. A large number of circles were in attendance. Gen. O'Neil, President of the Brotherhood, delivered an address, wherein he gave a favorable account of the affairs of the Brotherhood. To-night a large ratification meeting was held at the Court House. Much enthusiasm and good feeling were manifested.

—At St. Louis, on Sunday, a match for a fight for three thousand dollars a side was made between Abe Hicken, the champion of English light weights, and Bussy, of Chicago, to come off in six weeks from next Wednesday, within fifty miles of St. Louis. Three hundred dollars forfeit has been put up.

—Advices from Hayti to the 8th state that President Salnave escaped from Cape Haytien on the 22d of April, and managed to reach Port au Prince. He and General Delorme, who acted as Secretary of State, Interior, War and Navy, arrested many of the citizens and ordered some to be shot. The stores of six American merchants were robbed by the troops. Salnave threatened to seize the town and burn it to ashes—at the same time he used violent menaces to the foreign consuls. Many Americans had been shot at in their own windows, and were forced to seek refuge in the American Consulate. Mr. Hollister and his attachés had an interview with Salnave and Delorme. They demanded protection, but were received defiantly and with threats. The American Minister at once sent a dispatch to Havana for some American men-of-war. He also sent to Jamaica for a British war steamer.
